

Four Defendants Plead Guilty When Arraigned In County Court Monday

Grand Jury Hands Up Its Report of 10 Open Indictments, Six Sealed Indictments and Seven Dismissals.

WILL BE SENTENCED

Court Recesses Until Wednesday at 10 o'clock at Which Time Sentences Will Be Imposed.

Four defendants entered pleas of guilty when arraigned in county court Monday afternoon following the handing up of the report of the grand jury. The grand jury reported 10 open indictments, six sealed indictments and seven dismissals. After reporting to Judge Tracy the grand jurors were excused for the term with the thanks of the court.

The first defendant to be arraigned was Robert Dugan who was charged by indictment with grand larceny, second degree, in two counts. Dugan pleaded guilty to taking the car of John Barr of 52 Highland Terrace, Weehawken, N. J., from Cornell street on the morning of July 5 and driving it out to Hurley where it was wrecked when Officers Roedel and Cramer were compelled to shoot holes in the tire with the police riot gun after Dugan had refused to stop. Dugan will be sentenced Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The car, a Ford sedan, had been parked on Cornell street and had been reported stolen. Officers Roedel and Cramer picked up the message while driving in Hurley avenue in one of the radio cars. Hardly had the message been picked up when they saw a car pass which answered the description. When the driver failed to halt at the sounding of the siren the officers chased him out Hurley avenue. In the village the police drew near and at the sharp turn they practically overtook the fleeing driver. On the stretch near the residence of Grant Smith in Hurley the riot gun was fired at the tires and the shot took effect. As a result the car overturned and was wrecked. Under the wreckage they found Robert Dugan of 43 Newkirk avenue injured. He was arrested and taken to the Kingston Hospital where he was treated by Dr. John Krom.

James Burke of East Kingston entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of burglary and unlawful entry. It is charged he took an electric drill on October 20, 1932. An attorney will be assigned by the court.

Floyd E. Palen of Post street, Kingston, was arraigned on a charge of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry alleged to have been committed on June 14, 1935. Palen is the lad arrested on charges of entering the American Legion home and also the Bock building on Crown street. To the charge of entering the Bock building he entered a plea of guilty and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff for sentence on Wednesday at 10 o'clock. A second indictment was filed.

William Smith of the town of Wardsburg, charged with forgery, second degree, entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced Wednesday at 10 o'clock. The act is charged on June 21, last.

Daniels Pleads Guilty.

Joseph Daniels, charged with grand larceny, second degree, for the taking of a car on August 17, last, entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced Wednesday. Daniels lives at 43 Ralph avenue, Brooklyn, but was in the CCC at Camp Dix, N. J., at the time. He had come to Kingston and apparently desired transportation home for he took a Ford roadster of Mrs. Charles H. Lisbon of 114 Clifton avenue, which he found parked in front of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company office on Broadway. The car was reported missing at 5 in the afternoon and at 10 o'clock that evening the police were notified that the car was in Cold Spring, where Daniels, who is a colored boy, had been arrested on a charge of not having a license.

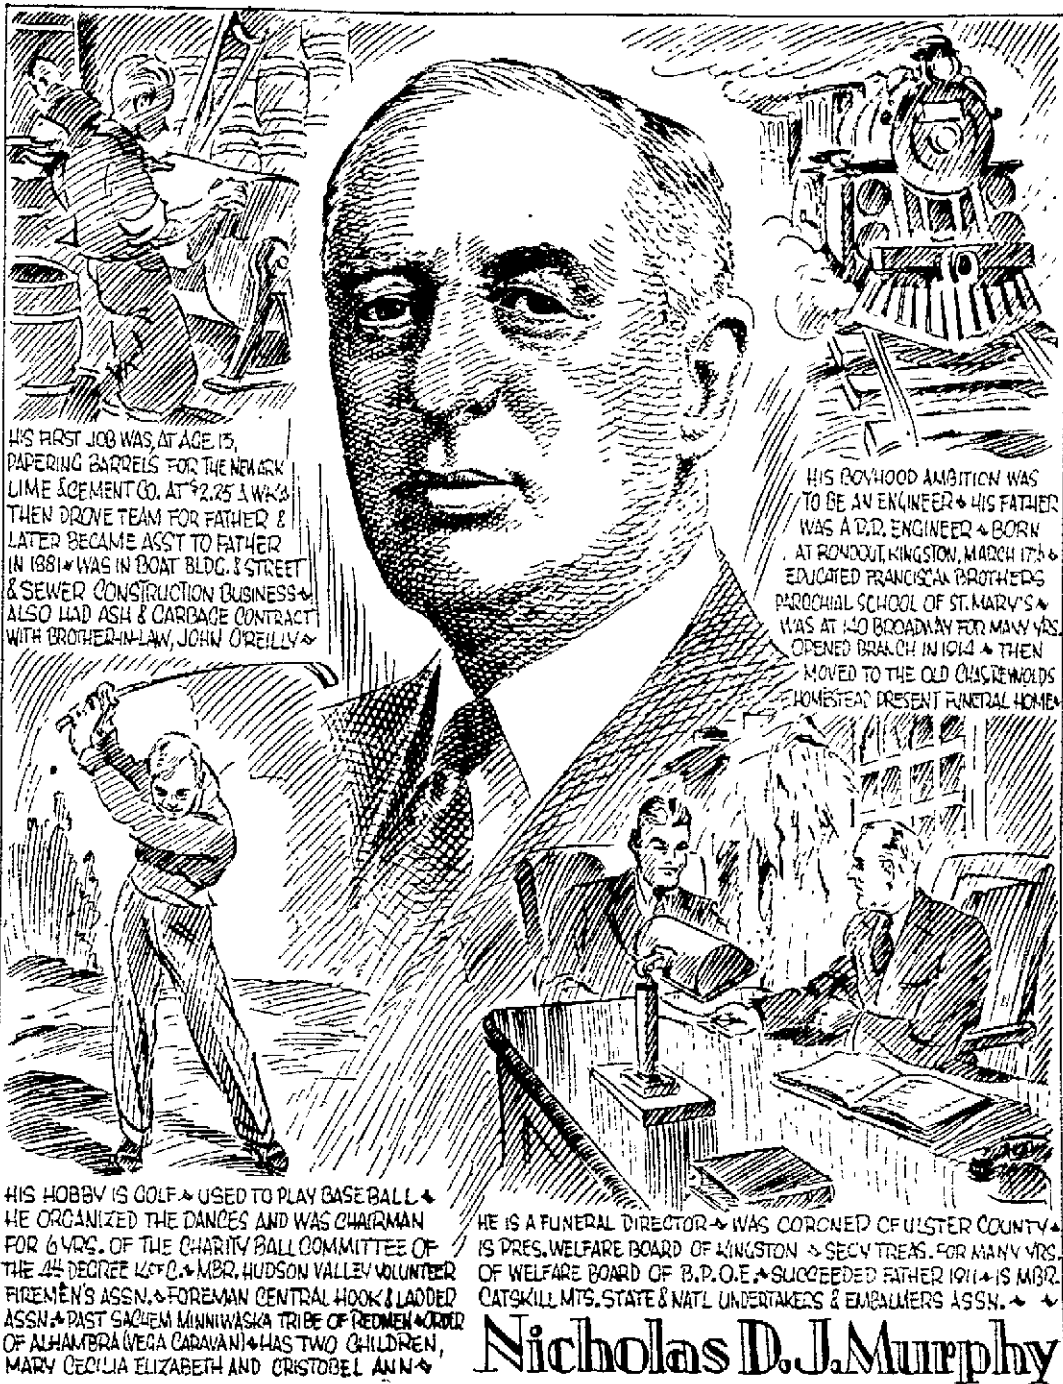

Oscar Williams, who has been in trouble many times, was arraigned back in 1934 on a burglary, third degree, charge. At that time he entered a plea of not guilty. He has been at large for a long time and was never brought into court to answer to the charge until Monday afternoon when Assistant District Attorney Haver asked Williams what he intended to do. Williams entered the same plea of not guilty and was informed to get an attorney and be ready for trial during the week of November 12.

Prudencio and Jose Gonzalez were arraigned under two indictments. In the first indictment they were charged with robbery, first degree, in three counts, alleged to have been committed on October 12, 1931, the date when a boarding house at Kerhonkson occupied by state highway workers was stuck-up and robbed. Prudencio, known as "Red Rubio," said his lawyer was Renee V. Elsworth and he entered a plea of not guilty in the absence of his attorney. Jose seemed not to understand just what was going on and said so. He told the court that "I know nothing about it" and

Melvin C. Eaton Will Speak at Republican Meeting Here Oct. 1

State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton will attend the organization meeting of the Republican County Central Committee which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, Tuesday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock.

Secretary James A. Simpson has sent to all Republican committeemen in the county notice of the meeting urging that they attend this meeting at which election of a chairman, treasurer and secretary will take place.

State Chairman Eaton will be present and address the members. He will discuss very important campaign issues for the coming election and will probably speak on the drive which is to be made this fall to again send to Albany a Republican majority in the Assembly.

The Republican drive for control of the Assembly in Albany will not under way during the week when Republican State Chairman Eaton will confer with Congressmen at Syracuse. It is believed that if the Democrats retain control of the Assembly a drive will be made for congressional reapportionment by Democratic standards and a consequent loss of representation at Washington. A drive will be made in the state this fall to regain control of the Assembly and in several of the counties real battles are expected. These seats now held by Democrats must be won in order to gain a majority. In both Orange and Schenectady counties there will be important contests. Chairman Eaton at the meeting in Kingston next week will have some interesting points for discussion and all Republican committeemen are urged to attend.

200 Soldiers Killed

Shanghai, Sept. 24 (AP)—Two hundred Chinese soldiers were killed and an equal number injured today when a crowded troop train plunged from the rails into a mountain canyon near Loowang, Hunan Province. The troops were being rushed to Shanghai over the Lunghai railway for anti-Communist operations. Authorities said they were investigating a possibility that the derailment was engineered by Communist agents.

Young Boy's Bicycle Stolen

Edward Gibson of 177 Main street has reported to the police that last Saturday his Columbia bicycle had been stolen from in front of his home. The boy is a colored child, 12 years old and has a new bike on the street. A reward is being offered for the return of the bicycle. Gibson would be delighted in having it returned to him.

Court Suppresses Evidence Obtained In Raid at High Falls

New York, Sept. 23 (Special)—An application made by Albert Ravone, one of the three men arrested on August 2 at High Falls for counterfeiting, to suppress the evidence and information obtained upon the seizure of property and the arrest of Ravone on the ground that it was a violation of his constitutional rights, was granted in Federal Court here today by Judge T. Blake Kennedy.

The defendant, through his attorney, M. Michael Edelstein, maintained that the search and seizure was illegal as no search warrant was shown him. He stated that on August 1st he rented a four-room bungalow from Frank Tamedini for a period of four months at $159 per month.

The next night, while he was in bed, the agents broke in, he says, and prevented him from rising. They searched the place and found machinery and counterfeiting matter, he admits. This was a distinct violation of his rights, he said, since the place was his home. Also improper under the circumstances, he claimed, was the fact that the agents peeped in through the back windows of the bungalow and allegedly saw him cutting paper to feed into the press.

The decision is a distinct blow to the prosecution in its attempt to prove a case against Ravone and his co-defendants, Leo Albani and Carmine Coppola.

The government's successful roundup of what was termed a ring of counterfeiters and equipment for printing that had accounted for a huge flood of bogus $1 bills throughout the East had been hailed here and in Washington as a great piece of undercover work. Sufficient material was on hand, they stated, to print $1,000,000 worth of spurious bills.

Chain of Circumstance Leading to Wife's Death Told in Sherman Trial

District Attorney Hoban Outlines Events Between Alleged Murderer and Esther Magill Since 1933, Citing "Familiarities."

GIRL REPROVED

Sherman's Mother Took Occasion to Reprimand Miss Magill for "Breaking up a Home."

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 21 (AP)—A chain of circumstances starting in 1933 when Newell P. Sherman, 26-year-old choirmaster, met Esther Magill, 18-year-old fellow worker, was recited in Superior court today in an effort to prove Sherman murdered his wife last July.

Opening the state's case as the trial went into the second day, District Attorney Owen A. Hoban told the jury in the presence of the parents of Sherman and his dead wife, Alice, 22, that the Magill girl first went riding with the defendant in 1933.

Hoban said Sherman parked his car and that he and the Magill girl moved in the back seat where Sherman "attempted familiarities."

Two weeks later, the district attorney continued, they went out again and there were more "familiarities." He told of another ride to a Rhode Island place.

Hoban told the jury Miss Magill attempted to break off the affair but that Sherman told her he "loved her more than anyone else" and asked if she would marry him "if he got rid of his wife." The prosecutor said the girl refused and that Sherman later consulted a lawyer regarding a divorce.

Italian Press Says League Has Proved Itself Unable To Solve African Crisis

Mussolini Adjourns His Cabinet Until Saturday to Await Further Developments in Europe and African Controversy.

REPORT TO COUNCIL

Italo-Ethiopian Committee Admits Defeat, Is Ready to Return Situation to League.

Rome, Sept. 21 (AP)—Coincident with the meeting of Premier Mussolini's cabinet today the government-controlled Rome press intimated that the League of Nations had exhausted its possibilities in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy.

It once told his ministers that Italy had offered no counter-proposals to the league settlement plan and adjourned the cabinet until Saturday to enable them to follow further developments in Europe and Africa.

Mussolini said his communication to the league merely stated Italy's reasons for rejecting the league committee of five's proposals.

The premier outlined to the cabinet the possibilities of "developments" in the situation on the basis of some articles of the league covenant and the attitude Italy will assume according to the circumstances.

Righteous Attitude

Developments since the Saturday cabinet meeting, it was said, "demonstrate that the attitude of the Italian government could not have been different."

The cabinet decreed the expenditure of 1,000,000 lire (about $80,000) for the construction of aircraft shelters in Messina. The ministers also approved a number of technical regulations for the regular army and the blackshirts.

Daughters of the Late Barney Millens Bring Action Against Mother

There was a hearing Monday afternoon before Justice Harry E. Schirick in supreme court in the matter of setting aside a deed of trust entered into between children of the late Barney Millens of Kingston and Mrs. Millens. Following the death of Mr. Millens, who for many years was engaged extensively in the junk business in Kingston, a deed of trust was signed by the eight children giving to their mother control of the property and business. This was done at the request of the mother in the absence of any will by deceased.

The present action is brought by Gusie Moss, Etta Rose, Edith Miller and Rae Herman, daughters of deceased, who seek to have this deed of trust set aside on the grounds of fraud. The action is brought against the other children and Mrs. Millens.

An expert witness was called at the opening of the case Monday afternoon and he testified that after the death of Mr. Millens he made an appraisal of the rags in the Millens plant. These items he appraised at $6,587.50 and stated that there was additional stock in the warehouses which had not been appraised by him as the items were not in his line of work.

Gusie Moss of New York was next called. She testified that she had come to Kingston when her father was very ill and found her mother also ill. After the death of Mr. Millens the family gathered about the bed and at the request of their mother, who stated that there was no will, they promised to obey her and do as she requested. She asked them to sign over all of the estate to her as she desired to be independent during her lifetime.

She also, according to the witness, said the estate was not large and that she would preserve it and keep it and at her death would give the children share and share alike.

Later the witness said a partnership was formed between the sons and the mother and that business was continued as in the past. This she objected to and the action is brought to set aside the deed of trust by which the control of the property was transferred from the heirs to Mrs. Millens. The witness said that her mother had been in poor health before she died and that she and her death were in fact the children share and share alike.

Mohawks Refuse to Accept Annuities

Albany, Sept. 23 (Special).—Because of the fact that the duly elected officers of the St. Regis Indian reservation in Franklin county, have elected to decline for the present the annuities due the tribe from New York state, the entire tribe must be bound by their decision. This ruling was given here by Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., to the State Social Welfare Department, which was in a quandary as to what to do with the money available for the tribe.

The 1933 legislature appropriated money to be paid the St. Regis Mohawks in satisfaction of their annuity. The amount became available for payment July 1, 1933. When the tribe officials were asked for the list of those Indians who were eligible to receive annuity money, a letter from the clerk of the tribe informed the state's Indian agent, Leslie M. Saunders, that "at an early date the tribe intended to discuss the treaty of 1794, and until then no list or voucher would be prepared."

The clerk of the tribe further requested that no distribution be made until the group had made a decision in that connection.

Later, in August, 1934, Mr. Saunders received a notice signed by the clerk and three chiefs of the St. Regis Indians, saying that at a general council it had been voted not to accept any annuity money from New York state until the federal government had determined the status of the Six Nations, and pending the outcome of several cases in the courts involving infringement by Indians of some of the game laws.

At the time of the general council meeting, however, an insurgent group of the Mohawks conducted a rump meeting, and this latter group asked that the annuities be given them, and presented their list of eligibles. The regularly elected chiefs, however, still refused to submit a list of eligibles claiming they were afraid acceptance of the money might hurt their cases in the courts.

The Social Welfare Department, undetermined whether to give the minority Mohawks their money, thereupon requested Attorney General Bennett for his opinion.

"The state can only deal with the tribe as a unit," said the attorney general. "You have no right to pay until it is in a position to accept the whole annuity according to law and long settled usage."

Series of Egg Meetings Planned

A. P. Kaplan, president of the Mid-Hudson Egg Auction, has completed arrangements for a series of three regional meetings at which egg marketing will be discussed. All poultrymen are invited to attend the meeting nearest to them. The main speaker will be J. C. Crissy of New York, president of the G. L. F. Egg Marketing Service.

The first meeting will be held in the Grange Hall at New Paltz tonight. The second, Tuesday evening, September 24, in the Stone Ridge Grange hall and the last of the series in Kingston, Wednesday evening, September 25 at the Court House in Kingston. All three meetings will start at 8 o'clock.

A special invitation is extended to all members of the Mid-Hudson Egg Auction. Any questions about the auction will be answered. It is also planned to have a new egg grading machine on exhibition at each meeting.

The price paid producers in New York state for wheat in August, 1935, was 18 cents a bushel less than the price in Chicago, the greatest spread of any year for 10 years.

In County Granges

Dutchess Degree Team

Those who witnessed the beautiful ceremony of conferring the fifth degree by the Dutchess county degree team at Pomona Grange were deeply impressed by the dignity and eloquence of it. The lovely ritualistic work as exemplified by them will be a long cherished memory.

Ulster county is greatly honored and appreciates the assistance of the visiting degree team.

The first session of the meeting was held at the Lloyd Church Hall at Lloyd on Friday, September 20.

Worthy Master Story welcomed the following guests, masters and deputies from Orange, Sullivan, Greene and Dutchess counties.

At the election of officers, Brother Weaver was again recommended for deputy and Albert Shaw of Highland for juvenile deputy. The others elected were: Master, Albert Kurtz; overseer, I. C. Barnes, lecturer, Mary O'Connor; steward, Charles Everett; assistant steward, Mr. Palmer; chaplain, Mr. Barnard; treasurer, Harold Clark, secretary, Mary Brink, gatekeeper, Mr. Schriver; Flora Mildred C. Ducker; Pomona, Mrs. William Cotton, Ceres, Mrs. C. Bell, lady assistant steward, Mrs. Schoonmaker, executive committee, William Hooker.

The service and hospitality committee sponsored a molasses cooky contest held at the previous meetings of the subordinate Granges and those winners competing in that held at Pomona. The following winners received attractive prizes.

First, Mrs. Webster, of Homewick Grange.

Second, Mrs. Raddicker, of Plattkill Grange.

Third, Mrs. Roosa, of Stone Ridge Grange.

The judges were Miss E. Parsons, of the Home Bureau, Miss Nelson, of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and Mrs. Finerty, of the Kingston High School.

Interesting reports were read from the subordinate Granges. Brother Mollenhauer was given a rising vote of thanks for the use of his farm at the Ulster County Grange picnic in August, and he invited the Grange again any time in the future.

Slater Cotton called attention to a debate to be held at Asbury. Worthy Master Story was made delegate at large to attend the State Grange session at Oneonta in December. Mrs. Bell was elected delegate from Highland, Rupert Lenard from Mt. Tremper, Mrs. Lizzy Hoff from Asbury, Arthur Kurtz from New Paltz and Elsie Halleck from Milton.

Brother Weaver requested those who may not be able to attend as delegates to get in touch with him or Master Story.

A motion was made to have the next Pomona meeting on December 13.

The speaking contest for the Grange youth will be held at Lloyd on October 11. All Granges are to bring fruit and flowers which will be judged after the contest.

There was quite some discussion on resolutions brought up, especially one regarding the potato bill which was considered unconstitutional by the Grange.

Brother Mullenhauer spoke of the Grange booths at the Ulster County Fair and quite some discussion ensued on the judging and some good suggestions were given by guests from other counties for future use.

Albert Kurtz reported on the fair and said that the premiums came very close to the $5,000 appropriated by the state.

Applications were received from the following candidates: Highland, Davis Laverne, Mrs. Emily Davis, Mrs. Harry Craig, Ted Lockett, Charlotte Shaw and Abraham Deyo. Asbury, Lizzy M. Hoff, Rosendale, Marguerite Randezzer, Ruth M. Dunn, Patroon, Ben. Davis; Lillian G. Davis, Millard Davis, Rosintha Davis, Helen Schoonmaker, L. H. Davis, A. H. Davis and E. Pedesky; Plattkill, Muriel Ward, A. Lang; Rose Lanzlitz, Evelyn Presler, Clifford Willson, Birch and Margaret Carroll.

The evening session at the Lloyd Grange Hall was well attended, around 200 members being present. Master Story welcomed the guests, who responded graciously.

A rising vote of thanks was given the Dutchess County degree team.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the literary program was eliminated. Mr. Stanton of Albany county was the guest speaker and interested all there with his talk. He asked all the members to read the speech on the front page of the National Grange monthly this month regarding the Farmers' Market in Albany. He asked for the assistance of all New York Granges in fighting the competitive market in Albany county.

He said that 647 farmers had joined together to establish their market and invested $300,000 in it and through politics this competitive market was being set up.

The hall was beautifully decorated with fruit and flowers brought by the different Granges.

They were judged during the meeting and the first prize for a basket of gorgeous delphinium and dahlias went to New Paltz. The second was a dainty little basket of hawthorne blossoms and asters from Stone Ridge.

Sister Shulp is the chairman of the service and hospitality committee for the coming year and Mrs. William Kline of Ulster Grange, the third and new member.

Flower Show and Supper

The first annual flower show at the Lake Katrine Grange will be held at Grange Hall September 25, under the auspices of the Service and Hospitality committee. A short program of entertainment, including a one act play, a quartet, and reading, will be presented at 8 o'clock.

The flower show will be opened by Mayor Helseman of Kingston at 5 p. m. The judges of flowers will be David Burgevin, Sidney Clapp and C. C. DuMont. The judges for artistic arrangement will be Mrs. William Warren, Miss Bertha Snyder and Mrs. Overbaugh.

The September committee of Lake Katrine Grange will serve a chicken supper starting at 5:30.

All exhibits for the flower show must be in place by 3 o'clock September 25. The Grange Hall will be open Tuesday evening for those who wish to arrange their exhibits.

No Boosters' Night

The Milton Grange will hold no Boosters' Night this year. It was decided to omit this meeting because of recent deaths of members of the Grange. The next regular meeting will be held on October 1.

Hoey Inquest Goes On Today At West Chester

West Chester, Pa., Sept. 25 (P).—Officials who examined the circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of Evelyn Hoey, musical star, at the farm home of Henry Ruddleston Rogers, Jr., oil heir, were called as witnesses today at an inquest into her death.

Miss Hoey's body was found on the night of September 11 in her room at the Rogers place near Downingtown.

Attorneys for Rogers and William J. Kelley, his cameraman friend of Union City, N. J., were irate last night when Deputy Coroner Harvey Cox announced the inquest would have to be postponed because of illness of one of the jurors. Rogers and Kelley are under bond for their appearance.

Cox at first fixed 8 p. m. tonight for the resumption of testimony, but protesting lawyers refused to quit the court room. He finally agreed to start at noon (E.S.T.) today.

Kelley said the delay interfered with plans to attend the Baer-Louis fight in New York tonight. Charles Frame, foreman of the jury, voiced a similar complaint.

District Attorney William E. Parke said he expected to complete his examination of witnesses today. About a half dozen were to be heard, including Charles Dunlap of the Chester Police Department's Bertillon Bureau, and Dr. H. B. F. Davis, who conducted the autopsy the day after the shooting. Dunlap made finger print studies of the pistol which killed Miss Hoey.

A city block from the Old Chester County Court House where the inquest is taking place, movie patrons viewed the late musical comedy singer in a screen appearance. Her solo number, sung in "blues" fashion, was "I got myself in bad being too good to you."

Nectarine Has Place In Empire State Too

Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Recent comment in a farm paper on the beauty and general excellence of California nectarines now appearing on city markets in the East and the statement that the nectarine is of little commercial importance in this section of the country called forth a statement from fruit specialists at the State Experiment Station here pointing out that the nectarine can be successfully grown in New York and that all that is needed to make it commercially profitable are better varieties to meet eastern conditions.

Without belittling the fine qualities of California nectarines, the station specialists claim to be making progress in supplying improved varieties for the East. "A nectarine is a smooth-skinned peach, a sport of the peach," say the station fruit specialists. "The fuzzy skin of the peach is objectionable to many persons to whom the smooth skin of the nectarine appeals tremendously. The flesh of the nectarine is sweeter and richer than that of the peach, and nectarines add variety and charm to the list of hardy fruits. All that is needed to make them as popular as peaches is a greater number of varieties adapted to American conditions."

Name Four Best Varieties

For several years now, the Experiment Station workers have been testing out a long list of nectarine varieties and have been attempting to develop new varieties. Out of the list of available sorts they have selected four as especially suitable to New York state. These are the Hunter, John Rivers, Rivers Orange, and Sure Crop.

Of these four, the Sure Crop, imported from New Zealand, is the most promising nectarine growing on the station grounds. The tree is vigorous and productive and the fruits are large, with a free stone, and possess a very pleasing flavor. The fact that nectarines are smooth skinned makes them somewhat more attractive to insects, particularly the curculio, than peaches, but modern spray practices make it possible to hold insect pests in check on nectarines equally as well as on the peach.

Fewer beans, onions, pears, and potatoes, and less cabbage and celery are in prospect in New York state this year, as compared with production of these crops in 1934.

Medicos Oppose Compulsory Sick Insurance Plans

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Dr. Frederic E. Sonders, president, Medical Society of the State of New York, urged 150 physicians gathered here today to redouble their vigilance in opposition to compulsory sick insurance plans.

The meeting was the 29th annual meeting of the Third District Branch of the Medical Society of the State of New York, of which Dr. Augustus J. Hambrook of Troy is president. Counties comprising the district are: Albany, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Greene, Columbia, Ulster and Sullivan.

"Despite the failure of special pressure groups to obtain enactment of sick insurance laws," said Dr. Sonders, "it is known that further attempts are to be made to copy in America socialistic ideas for medical care from countries in Europe."

"The evidence is overwhelming that wherever these plans have been tried mass medicine results, the patient does not get good medical care and the profession tends to deteriorate. We want none of this sort of thing in New York state. We must be unwavering in our loyalty to the best ideals of our profession, for the sponsors of these measure promise glibly that they will heal humanity's ills, by the simple flat of a new sweeping, bureaucratic law."

Officers of the Third District Branch, in addition to Dr. Hambrook, president, are: Dr. Bertram W. Gifford, Saugerties, vice president; Dr. William M. Rapp, Catskill, secretary; Dr. Ernest E. Billings, Kingston, treasurer.

Chase Bank Official Suicide In Houston

Houston, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP).—James A. MacIvaline, 45, of Caldwell, N. J., an official of the Chase National Bank, New York, plunged to his death from a tenth story hotel room here last night.

Preparations were made to send the body to New York today. Justice of the Peace J. M. Ray returned an inquest verdict of suicide after investigators had found a note officers said was addressed to MacIvaline's widow.

The banker died without regaining consciousness about 15 minutes after he hurtled from the window, struck a parked automobile and then bounded to the pavement. Theatre-goers looked on in horror.

A note addressed to "Dear Helen" scribbled on the last pages of a pocket diary, read:

"This is being written on a train to Houston. I love you dear, and I am awfully sorry you took me. What a curse to you I am, but maybe the boys somehow can be saved. Poor Lydie and darling Aunt Lizzie. I will probably not die, worse luck for you. It will be in all the papers. Oh, the boys, the boys, our affair was so muddled and you will be so poor."

MacIvaline left his home last month on a protracted business trip. The widow and two sons survive.

George Vanderbilt Gets 20 Millions Today

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—George Vanderbilt became 21 years old today, and he also became a millionaire 20 times over.

The young explorer, who was married September 6 to the former Lucille Parsons of West Orange, N. J., now possesses one-half of his inheritance.

At 35, he'll inherit the other half of his share of the millions left by his father, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who perished on the Lusitania.

In honor of his becoming of age, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, has planned a large party at Cedar Knoll, her summer home at Sands Point, L. I.

She is having a new house built for George and his pretty, unassuming bride near her own estate.

George, who is a big game hunter, also is a song writer. He wrote the words to a dance tune, "She's Got That Fascinating Something," played at his wedding reception. He dedicated the song to his bride.

The couple will sail soon on a round-the-world wedding cruise, stopping in Africa and Indo-China for hunting trips. Yesterday they returned from a short trip to Bermuda.

Vanderbilt is a great great grandson of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt. His elder brother, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, has a fortune matching George's, and owns a racing stable.

Jungle Cats Injure Two Hollywood Stars

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP).—Two noted victims of the amusement world's demand for jungle thrills were in hospitals today recovering from wounds inflicted by wild animals.

The victims were Charles Bickford, burly red-headed film actor, and Maebel Stark, known to screen and circus as a peerless trainer of Bengal tigers.

An enraged lion suddenly sank his fangs into Bickford's neck yesterday while cameras around the final scenes for "East of Java."

Horrified co-workers dragged the lion from the prostrate actor barely in time to avert his death.

Miss Stark was receiving treatment for a severely lacerated left arm, which a big cat ripped last Saturday at Phoenix, Ariz. Only three years ago, she went to a hospital here as a result of a tiger's attack in the making of the movie, "King of the Jungle."

Roger H. Loughran Not a Candidate

"I shall not be a candidate," Attorney Roger H. Loughran responded to a reporter this morning when asked if he was interested in the nomination for supervisor of the town of Hurley.

"And I shall tell why at the town caucus tonight when I place in nomination the name of Minard Elmendorf," Mr. Loughran concluded.

He had nothing more to say on the matter in the way of giving out any information previous to his speech of nomination tonight.

Attorney Loughran was named "acting supervisor" by the town board at a meeting on Monday night, September 9, but declined to accept the position, suggesting to the board that it rescind its action. This was done.

Mr. Loughran is a justice of the peace in the town of Hurley and considered this the reason why he could not accept the offer of the town board which wanted an "acting supervisor" to carry on the business of the town during the grave illness of Supervisor Matthew T. E. DeWitt.

Supervisor DeWitt died last week and now it is the duty of the town board to appoint one in his place.

It is presumed by many that, since the town board is Republican, a member of that political party will be chosen; but this is not a certainty. When a reporter asked Philip Elling, county leader of the Republican party, this morning if there was any choice for an appointee he shook his head negatively and said "It's all up to the town board."

Mr. Elling inferred that he, as Republican leader, did not interfere with town politics, deeming the residents of the various election districts capable of handling their own affairs. Indications are that the man chosen at the town caucus this evening may be named to the office of supervisor by the town board when it meets Wednesday night.

Whether Mr. Elmendorf will have opposition when he is nominated by Attorney Loughran remains to be seen at the caucus.

Crime Parley Program Is Completed Today

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—The program for Governor Herbert H. Lehman's crime conference was complete today as the state's chief executive sat down with a group of publishers and editors to outline what he hopes to accomplish in New York's latest move against the gunman and racketeer.

Mr. Lehman sounded the keynote of the conference prior to the luncheon meeting with the publishers as he declared "this is to be a business conference and we expect to get results."

The conference, on "Crime, the Criminal and Society," opens Monday night, September 20, and closes Thursday night, October 3. Governor Lehman will be the principal speaker at the opening session and nationally known civic and political leaders and criminologists will give their views at round table meetings to be held throughout the conference.

Raymond Moley, magazine editor, and former brain trust, and Edwin C. Hill, newspaper columnist and radio commentator, are listed to speak after Governor Lehman at the first meeting. Nathan L. Miller, former governor and former judge of the Court of Appeals, Charles H. Tuttle, former U. S. attorney at New York and Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., are the principal speakers at the Tuesday session.

Other speakers include: Alfred J. Talley, of New York, former judge of the Court of General Sessions; Sanford Bates, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons; Chief Judge Frederick H. Crane of the Court of Appeals; Miss Josephine A. Roche, assistant secretary of the U. S. Treasury; Charles Poletti, counsel to the governor; and Justin Miller, chairman of the attorney general's "Advisory Committee on Crime."

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 24 (AP).—Harvard's two most famous undergraduates were ready for study today. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his brother, John, the two youngest sons of President Roosevelt, registered yesterday. Franklin, a junior this year, will live with a group of friends in a private home, while John, a sophomore, will reside in exclusive Dunster Hall, where Franklin lived last year. Total registration of undergraduates in Harvard College was announced as 3,686 compared with 3,592 last year. Late registration is expected to bring the university's total enrollment to nearly 8,000.

SEVEN MEN DEAD AFTER EXPOSURE IN LIFEBOAT

Judique, N. S., Sept. 24 (AP).—A lifeboat with six dead men aboard drifted ashore here today, apparently from the steamer Martens. A seventh man in the boat died soon after reaching land.

Exposure had brought death to the sailors while they drifted about for a long time—how long could not at once be determined—off the Cape Breton coast.

Their vessel, according to the dying seaman's incoherent story, had foundered off Port Hood Island, a few miles off Cape Breton.

But doubt as to their ship's identity cropped up immediately. Shipping records here failed to list the Martens.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS.

By Frank H. Beck

Reflections of a Sinner
It's rather a comfort to me to think I deserve what I'm getting; if my punishment were unjust I might have some cause for fretting. But I've done such millions of things that my conscience must keep regretting. I find this a comforting thought—I really deserve what I'm getting.

Mrs. Jones found Mrs. Smith, wife of the aviator, in tears.
Mrs. Jones (anxiously)—What is the matter, dear?
Mrs. Smith—I'm worrying about Harold, my husband. He's been trying for a week to lose our cat, and as a last resort he took her up in his plane this morning. He said he would take her up three thousand feet and drop her over the side.
Mrs. Jones—Well, what is there to worry about?
Mrs. Smith—Lots. Harold isn't home yet, and the cat is...boo hoo!

There is nothing else on earth that pays such big dividends as courtesy.

Lawyer—You want to divorce this woman? Can you name any co-respondent?
King Solomon—Not offhand, of course, but I strongly suspect the 97th Regiment of the Royal Light Infantry.

It is no trouble for the ambitious youth to start at the bottom these days.

She—John dear, I wouldn't let anyone else kiss me like this.
Man—My name isn't John.

Few things lose their glitter as quickly as glittering generalities.

Paul—She asked me to kiss her on either cheek.

Girl—Which one did you kiss her on?

Paul—I hesitated a long time between them.

Correct this sentence: "No matter what the critics say," said the social climber, "I won't pretend to like music that gives me a pain."

Mrs. Second—My first husband was a perfect saint.
Her Second—Then you'll never see him again.

The man who is dissatisfied with his work is never, never happy.

Mrs. Nagger (to garbage man as she opens back door)—Am I too late for the garbage?
Garbage Man—No, ma'am. Jump right in!

If there is no telepathy, how does the telephone girl bent on ringing a wrong number, know you are trying to take a nap?

Young Man—I tell you my love for you is making me mad—mad!
Sweet Young Thing—Well, keep quiet about it. It's had the same effect on father.

When a man says he is just as good as another man, he invariably believes he is better.

Choir Leader—What is that terrible smell on Mrs. Pinkerton?
Organist—I understand her husband has a garden and he used her perfume atomizer to spray his cucumber vines.

A Red Rose on This Day
In honor of your courage I wear a rose of red.
Through sorrow and through trouble, how high you held your head!
The beauty of your spirit has deepened with the years.
If only I could be like you—too brave for tears.
—Edith Grames

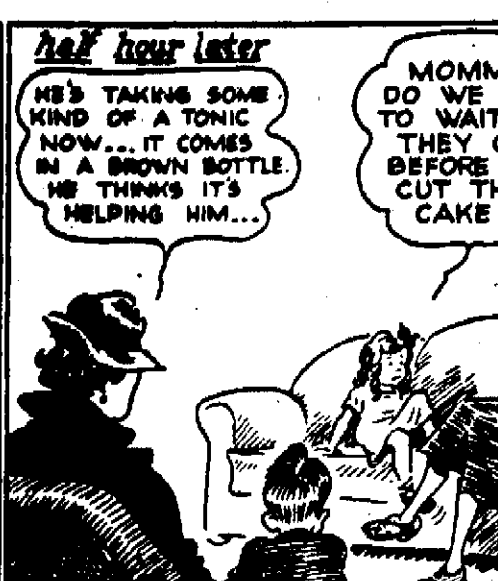

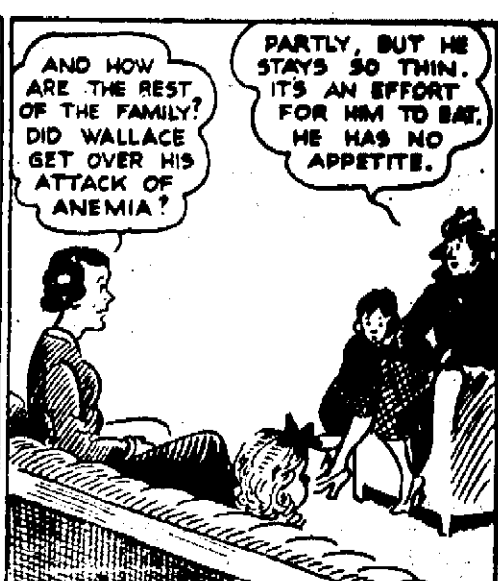

Mary Lou—Mother, do missionaries go to heaven?
Mother—Certainly, dear.
Mary Lou—Do cannibals?
Mother—I should think not.
Mary Lou—Well, if a cannibal eats a missionary, he'll have to go, won't he?

It seems a shame to talk about getting rid of the unfit when all they need is a government job.
(The Moss Feature Syndicate, 508 Summit Ave., Greensboro, N. C.)

When Puff and MacDermitt return from their walk, Puff says "you're so smart that I'll teach you to talk."
"Please do," says the monkey. "why, that would be swell."
If I could but talk, what strange tales I could tell.

Youth and the Mode

Edited by LAURA I. BALDT, A. M.

For many years Assistant Professor of Household Arts, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York

School and college girls are nearly always attracted to two-piece dresses, because they can be worn as separate items.

For instance, today's model features skirt and tunic in either length. Make the skirt of lightweight woolen and the tunic of lovely silk with wool effect.

By way of change, wear a sweater with your skirt. And perhaps you'd like to make the shorter tunic or blouse of satin crepe or of laid angora.

Style No. 3309 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for full length blouse and 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for skirt.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

The Barbara Bell Pattern Book featuring Fall Designs is ready. Send 15 cents today for your copy.

Pattern No. 1516-B

The Coat Dress, of Unassailable Chic

Today's design is the coat dress of classic simplicity. It buttons far to the left side, an idea much liked in the season's collections of new and wearable clothes. It is essentially a dress of the present, not a single influence can be detected in its trim straightness, except that most important of all influences—the desire of the modern woman to be perfectly dressed. The neckline is high, the sleeves long, set into very deep armholes, and the only ornamentation used consists of the two buttons at the top of the side closing, and the buckle on the belt.

This is a model developed in light weight tweeds and homespun. Nice to wear without a coat, or when winter winds are chilly, to wear beneath a top coat of tweed or fur.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1516-B is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 54-inch material.

SEND FOR THE FALL AND WINTER BARBARA BELL PATTERN BOOK. MODES OF THE MOMENT

Velveteen appears on the fall fashion scene.
Liana Murnin

With all the rich jewel tones and deep wine shades that Dame Fashion tells us we will wear this fall and winter, velvet and velveteen are the fabrics best adapted to enhance the beauty of these colors.

Tailored themes are still the "tops" in street costumes—high necklines are well liked, button trim is smart, sometimes closing the dress at front or back from collar to hem. The two-piece model of elegant colored velveteen has a high standing collar which is right in tune with the trend for military necklines. Four patch pockets are trimmed with self pleated ruffles and covered buttons close the blouse at front.

Bronze green velveteen is used for the one piece dress showing button trim in a more feminine manner. The novel buttons are of wood, as is the buckle at the waistline. A gay plaid woolen scarf is sportily tucked in at the neckline and the two patch pockets are of ample size. While these frocks are ideal for the school or college miss, they are equally suitable for the business girl to wear on cool days before a topcoat is needed.

These Mexican legislators who pulled cunks in the chamber were primitive. Couldn't they use civilized methods like log-rolling and filibustering?

YOU CAN KEEP YOUR HAIR LOVELY! IT'S A MATTER OF SIMPLE CARE

RINSES HELP TO BEAUTIFY THE HAIR

To rinse your hair—or not to rinse it? What are the best rinses? What will rinse do?

Let's begin with the first question. Shall you rinse your hair? Yes, by all means. Whether your hair is light or dark, a lemon rinse is beneficial. The lemon helps to remove any alkaline residue left by the soap, leaving the hair softer and fluffier. And as it is a mild natural bleach, it helps to brighten blonde or light brown hair. Use the juice of one lemon in a quart of warm water, then rinse again with clear water.

If you find yourself without lemons, a vinegar rinse will have somewhat the same effect—and the faint odor soon disappears. Use about four tablespoons of vinegar in a quart of warm water, and rinse afterwards with clear water.

Camomile Rinse

If your hair is bright brown or inclined to be reddish, you might try a camomile rinse occasionally. This tends to bring out reddish shades in the hair. Steep one cupful of camomile flowers (obtainable at your drug store) in a quart of boiling water, and strain. Let this rinse remain on the hair.

For white hair the last rinse should contain a little hair-rinsing blue, or a few drops of laundry bluing to heighten the snowiness.

A henna rinse is prepared by boiling henna leaves in water. But as this rinse changes the shade of the hair it must be skillfully applied. White henna, so-called, is neither henna, nor is it a rinse. It is a bleaching paste, made of peroxide, ammonia and magnesium carbonate, applied as a pack. If you wish this, or henna, used on your hair, play safe—have it done in a reliable beauty shop.

Grand Jury Adopts Resolution Thanking Officials for Courtesy

The grand jury in handing up its report to Judge Tracy Monday afternoon filed the following resolution with the clerk of the county court:

"In handing up its report at this time the members of the grand jury in attendance at this September term of the Ulster County Court desire to incorporate in its report a note of appreciation of the courteous treatment which has been extended by the various county officials during the sessions of this body and also commend the district attorney and his assistants for the competent manner in which grand jury matters have been presented before our body.

"The grand jury has investigated a number of matters and as a result several indictments have been found. The report which is now handed up indicates in some measure the number of matters which were presented for investigation and action. It was through the very competent manner in which these matters were prepared and evidence presented before our body under the direction of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and his assistant, N. LeVan Haver, that the grand jury was able to complete its work in so short a time. Through this cooperation on the part of the district attorney and his assistant it was possible for the grand jury to dispose of the summer accumulation of cases in less than two weeks' time. Through the able examination by Mr. Murray and Mr. Haver of witnesses produced before our body the duties of the grand jury have been simplified and made easier. A great number of witnesses were produced and gave testimony and at all times Mr. Murray and his assistant have shown the utmost consideration toward the witness conducting such examinations in a fair and impartial manner but at the same time bringing to the attention of the grand jury all facts which were necessary for an intelligent determination in the matter. For the able and competent manner in which these public officials have guided our body we desire to express our thanks. Our stenographer, William P. Glass, has served us well and been of much assistance and to him we also desire to express our thanks. The court officers who were in attendance at sessions of the grand jury are also to be congratulated on their courteous services.

"An inspection of the Ulster County jail has been made by the grand jury as well as an inspection of the courthouse and property under the jurisdiction of Sheriff John H. Saxe and his assistants. In the jail and about the courthouse we found conditions very satisfactory, the jail was clean and orderly and in good repair. Prisoners confined in the jail appeared well cared for and the food served the inmates seemed sufficient, of good quality and well prepared. Throughout the courthouse and jail we found the county property well cared for and Sheriff John H. Saxe and his staff is to be congratulated on the care which is given the county property in their custody.

Four Plead Guilty In County Court

eral times and finally entered a plea of not guilty. Under a second indictment the two were charged with robbery, first degree, and grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed on the same date. Both entered pleas of not guilty to this second indictment. They were remanded to the custody of the sheriff. It will be recalled that on October 12, 1931, during the construction of the Minnewaska Trail over the Shawangunk mountains a state construction camp was held up and several of the boarders were robbed of large sums, many of them were Spaniards who had on their person their life savings.

No Bills of Indictment.

No bills of indictment were found in the following cases and where bail was deposited it was exonerated and where the defendant was in custody an order discharging the defendant was entered:

Ernest Freer and Henry Robinson, charged with burglary, third degree.

Otto Beversick, charged with assault, second degree.

Sherwood Roe of Catskill, manslaughter, second degree. Roe is the lad who had just returned from Pine Camp and had gone on a trip to Kingston. Not having had sleep for a long time he alleged he had fallen asleep at the wheel of his car at Glenelg and the car swerved off the road and struck Mrs. Marion Dana, wife of a Corinth minister, who had stopped at a roadside garage to have his car repaired. Mrs. Dana was killed. The young woman in the Roe car said she suddenly felt the youth fall asleep and his head drop on her shoulder as the car swerved from the road. No bill of indictment was found to the request of the Rev. Mr. Dana, who said to have the youth indicted and held on the manslaughter charge would only add to his troubles and he requested that no action be taken against the lad.

Ralph Newton, removing and concealing property.

George R. Wilson, attempted assault.

Thomas Harris, assault second degree. Harris after being brought to the county jail was transferred to the Tuberculosis Hospital, where he now is. When no bill of indictment was found Judge Tracy directed that Harris be discharged from the custody of the sheriff. He will remain at the hospital for treatment.

Court recessed until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time sentences will be imposed.

Arrest of Four Boys Solves Burglary of Former U. & D. Shops

During the months of July and August the former Ulster & Delaware railroad shops on the Strand were stripped of a large amount of copper wire, and since that time Sergeant Charles Phinney of the Kingston police department and Sergeant E. W. Schoonmaker of the New York Central police have been making a quiet investigation which led this morning to the arrest of four youths, all of whom confessed to entering the shops, which have been closed down since the railroad was taken over by the New York Central.

The four youths arrested by Sergeant Phinney and Sergeant Schoonmaker today were Arthur Boughton, 19, of 27 Murray street, Kenneth Scott, 20, of 12 West Union street, Clarence Simons, 17, of 22 Broadway, and Charles Smith, 19, of 12 Hudson street. All four youths signed confessions stating in brief that during July and August of this year that they had entered the shops and stolen copper wire which they had sold.

Later in police court the four were arraigned before Judge Culliton on charges of petit larceny, and all four pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined $25 each, and in addition were sentenced to 60 days each in the county jail. However, Judge Culliton informed the four youths that he would suspend the serving of the jail sentence provided they kept out of any further trouble for a period of one year.

The police say that since the shops have been closed down upwards of $2,000 damages had been done to the buildings.

TRUCKING 3,000 TONS OF CINDERS FOR SULLIVAN ROADS

An added hint that winter is in the offing is found in the announcement that in Sullivan county the State Highway Department is starting to truck some 3,000 tons of cinders and gravel to more than 80 stock piles along main highways in the county. They will be used this winter in sanding icy hills and pavements. The department now has 70 carloads of cinders on order.

FRIENDLY REGARD FOR SMALL POSTOFFICES

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—They held a celebration in honor of "Big Jim" Farley out in Lincoln, Indiana, and back of it all lies one of the most human stories to come to life about the postmaster general.

Postoffice inspectors had decreed that the postoffice at Lincoln (population 75 persons), established in 1856 in Nora Mitchell's general store, would be abolished and that thenceforth inhabitants of Lincoln and vicinity would receive their mail by rural delivery.

The community seethed and boiled over the prospect of losing its postoffice which for 73 years had been the clearing house of village opinion. In desperation the inhabitants appealed to a native son now in Washington as a newspaper correspondent—Ernest Watkins of the Indianapolis Star.

"We appeal to you to save our office," Native Son Watkins wrote "Big Jim." "To spare us the hurt we would suffer if our village is swept off the postoffice map with a stroke of your pen. Think how you would feel, Jim, if your birthplace—Grassy Point, N. Y.—should some time have its pride trampled upon by some heartless T. M. G."

Order Cancelled

FARLEY was touched, immediately he cancelled the order closing the Lincoln postoffice. And he replied at length to Watkins reminding him of his own home-town postoffice. "I was touched when I received your letter," he wrote. "Because Grassy Point is in the same position as Lincoln. A newspaper volume of my article in Grassy Point then reaches Lincoln in a given period."

Trial of Three Men Indicted on Still Charges at New Paltz

New York, Sept. 23.—(Special)—The trial of three men arrested on July 30 and indicted August 9 for possession and operation of a 1,000-gallon still on the John Muller farm, on old Route No. 32, about a half mile north of New Paltz, began this afternoon before Judge John Knight of Buffalo in United States district court here.

The complaint also alleges possession of 5,000 gallons of much intended for distillation purposes and conspiracy to defraud the government of revenue taxes.

The defendants are John Muller, Antonio DeCarlo and Rocco Minella. Assistant United States Attorney Robert E. Pratt, in his opening to the jury, said he would prove that Muller rented his barn to an unknown man for use as a distillery and that the other two defendants worked the still. DeCarlo and Minella said they resided in New York and were taken to New Paltz by machine by a man, unknown to them, who offered them jobs at $25 a week. The defense waived its opening to the jury.

Arthur J. Maher, an investigator of the internal revenue department, was the first witness for the government. He said that on July 29 he made a preliminary investigation near the John Muller farm during the course of a search for the source of a quantity of liquor coming from the section. He says he saw a quantity of mash residue and a pipeline running from the farm to a ditch.

The next day he returned with three other agents, Sarlo, O'Mahoney and Henry, and raided the barn. Sarlo and Maher approached from the rear and the other two from the main highway. They were to meet at the barn at 8.30 a. m.

As the rear pair approached, testified Maher, they saw DeCarlo leave the barn with a spade in his hand. They reached the open door of the barn and looked in, observing Minella tending the still. The two were placed under arrest, as was Muller, whom they discovered hiding behind a large tree about ten feet from the main farm house.

Minella and DeCarlo, in response to their questions, said Maher, stated that they had been there only a week and told of having been brought up from the city by a stranger who offered them jobs at $25 a week.

Muller was asked if he knew what was going on in his barn. He said he did not. His story was that he was in poor circumstances, having lost 500 chickens in a fire a year ago so that when a man, whose name he doesn't know, came to him with an offer to rent part of his barn at $25 a week, he jumped at the chance. He said he did not know what was going on in the barn, although he saw men working there and although he kept his cows in the barn and was in the place every day.

Agent Maher also described a buzzer system connected to the large tree behind which Muller was found. The wires connected with the barn and constituted an alarm system, according to the witness. Muller, in response to questions about the alarm and his presence there, denied any knowledge of it, said Maher.

The trial will continue tomorrow.

Cormorants Known by Colors

Cormorants never have white in masses in their plumage and, aside from general shape, may be distinguished from each other by the color of the gular pouches and the position of the faintly pencilled white feathers during the breeding time. Some breed on the islands and others in cliffs and even inland on our lakes. Like the loon, it dives and swims under water, but the cormorant has the habit of holding its bill at a sharp up tilt, giving it a wild, fly-away appearance not to be confused with the sedate loon.

GRAND UNION

Cardinal Hayes Opens Services at Cleveland

Cleveland, Sept. 24 (AP)—Prelates and priests from all sections of the nation and its possessions celebrated the sacrifice of the Mass underground today at the seventh National Eucharistic congress.

Many pilgrims to the religious festival made their way to the scene—similar to the catacombs of early Christianity in Italy only.

One hundred and twenty-eight altars, one for each diocese under the United States flag, occupy the city's large underground exhibition hall adjoining the Cleveland auditorium. Each bears the coat of arms of its respective diocese.

Congress officials describe the grouped altars as "a chronological history of Catholicism in America," pointing out that the altars bear the dates when the dioceses were founded.

The religious program of the congress opened formally when the Papal legate, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, of New York, celebrated a solemn pontifical Mass in the auditorium. The prelate received the official greeting of secular authorities at a civic reception last night, when Postmaster General James A. Farley read a letter to Bishop Joseph Schrembs, of Cleveland, president of the congress, from President Roosevelt.

"Conferences and religious assemblies such as your letter speaks of are vitally necessary for the welfare of our people and our nation," the President wrote. The executive quoted George Washington in saying, "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports."

The cabinet member, addressing the 17,000 in the audience, said that "perhaps never in the history of the world, and never in the history of our country has it been more fitting to render public adoration to God than it is today."

"The world today is filled with unrest," he continued. "The rulers of nations are seemingly wholly concerned with material things."

Bishop Schrembs, Governor Martin L. Davey, of Ohio, and Mayor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, also welcomed the legate.

Young Woman Injured As Two Cars Collided

Miss Beanie Schwedock of 143 Pine street was injured and two automobiles were damaged about 7.50 o'clock Monday evening at Franklin and Fair streets. The injured woman was removed to the Kingston Hospital in the W. N. Conner ambulance for treatment for injuries to her face and hand. She was riding in a car driven by Stanley Lurie of 158 Green street, while the other car was driven by Charles Williams of R. F. D. No. 2, Kingston. None of the occupants of the cars reported injuries to the police.

GIRL'S ILLNESS REPORTED CAUSE OF FORGED CHECKS.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP)—An exploding firecracker which injured a little girl last July 4 started the train of events which William J. McMullin blames for the charges of forgery against him.

McMullin, a former private detective, was held in $1,000 bail for the grand jury yesterday.

His attorney pleaded that he used the money gained by depositing forged checks to help pay the hospital bills for Rose Ryan, his eight-year-old niece.

Rose's parents are unemployed, and McMullin, who once worked for Gaston B. Means and the Burns Agency, paid for six blood transfusions and her hospital bills.

"This man was trying to save the life of the baby he loved," Fred C. Carpenter, attorney and former schoolmate of McMullin said. "Every penny has been traced to the hospital."

The child is still in the hospital, fighting for her life.

PORT JERVIS HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS MONTICELLO 48-0

Port Jervis High School cleaned up in their football game with Monticello, played at the latter place Saturday, by the one-sided score of 48-0. The boys from Port pushed the lighter Monticello players around at will, although the latter are credited with making a game stand.

Fedorka, Port Jervis half, covered himself with glory, making six of the eight touchdowns registered by his team. Port showed one notable weakness—they were unable to convert a single one of the eight tries for point after touchdown.

MEETING OF KINGSTON BETTER FILMS COUNCIL.

An important meeting of the Kingston Better Films Council was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred P. Luther, the president, Walter T. Elston, presiding. The organizations represented were the Girl Scouts, Daughters of the American Revolution, Men's Federated Clubs, Parent-Teacher Association, Rotary Club, School Women's Club, Federation of Women's Clubs, Young Women's Christian Association.

Practically all of the evening was devoted to preparing and giving a first reading of a constitution and by-laws for the council. Much very careful thought, with a long forward look for the development of the motion picture industry as applied to the audiences from all viewpoints, was given and the discussion was so general and reasonable as to make an excellent working constitution. According to the constitution, the regular meetings of the council will be held the third Monday evening of each month.

Following the business relative to the constitution, Mrs. Luther read a valuable, informing and interesting letter from Mrs. Alice Ames Winter, head of the national women's organizations at Hollywood.

The local organizations were asked, if possible, the reaction of their particular communities to "The Double" program.

Attention was called to the rapidly and artistically developing musical pictures which will undoubtedly, in time, result in satisfactory reproductions of the great operas. Among the outstanding new pictures mentioned was that of "The Magnificent Obsession."

PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S CLUB TO HOLD MEETING

Thursday evening of this week the trustees of the Elmendorf Street Church will meet in joint session with the Men's Club to discuss and act upon a matter of vital concern to both organizations. All members of both bodies are asked to attend if possible. The meeting is set for eight o'clock, and the officers are anxious to start on time to allow for full consideration of the question at hand.

A card party sponsored by the Men's Club will be held in the church social hall on October 11. The same committee which ran the parties last year to the satisfaction of all who attended, is again arranging for this affair, and a good time is promised all who play bridge, whist, or pinocle.

Pancakes and sausage seem quite the thing with the cool weather which has started so early this fall. The Presbyterian men, with their reputation as good cooks established by the success of last year's pancake supper, have arranged to feed their friends on the evening of October 29.

Dartball, shuffleboard and indoor horseshoes made their appearance at the first meeting of the club held last week. More new faces were present, as well as 40 members who found last year's club meeting fun and friendly like.

Parke Says Jurors Were Drunk During Evelyn Hoey Inquest

West Chester, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP)—William E. Parke, Chester county district attorney, indicated today he is considering a request to the county court for a grand jury investigation of the death of Evelyn Hoey and the unusual turn events have taken since a coroner's jury inquest of the shooting got under way.

"I'm not satisfied with the stuff that's going on around here, getting the jury drunk and so forth," said Parke.

He denied shortly before scheduled resumption of the inquest at noon today that he had petitioned the court for the investigation.

Further testimony regarding circumstances of the show-girl's death in the home of Henry Huddleston Rogers, Jr., at Indian Run Farm on September 11, was scheduled to be heard last night. Deputy Coroner Harvey Cox suddenly announced a postponement until noon today, saying one of the six jurors was "ill."

The first official recognition of conditions came from Parke when he spoke of jurors getting "drunk." President Judge W. Butler Windle at noon said he had no request for a grand jury summons and that no information about the case had reached him.

Court attaches said the August grand jury is subject to recall until the latter part of December, when a new jury will be sworn.

Final Phase of Maneuvers

Tokyo, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Japanese navy, hidden behind a screen of almost complete secrecy, engaged today in the final phase of its two and a half months of annual grand maneuvers somewhere in the north-west Pacific. The ships were working out problems understood to involve defense of the empire against an "enemy" advancing over the girded great circle route of the North Pacific. No news of the maneuvers has been published in any Japanese newspaper for the last ten days, and the navy office declined flatly to disclose the warships' movements, the locale of the war games or the character of the operations in which about 135 warships are participating.

New Era Food Sale.

The September committee of the New Era League will hold a food sale at the home of Mrs. Hazel Pirie, 168 Tremper avenue, Friday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock. These hustling ladies of the First Presbyterian Church were most successful at a recent clam chowder sale, and hope their many friends and neighbors will make this week's venture equally so. Donations should be at Mrs. Pirie's home before 1 p. m. Friday. Telephone orders or inquiries as to particular items on sale will be strictly attended to.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Apple receipts from New York were moderate. The demand was slow and the market continued inactive, but values showed no material change since yesterday, particularly for good quality, carefully graded fruit. The pear market was steady, supplies were moderate and the demand was fair. The top price obtained for the best Bartlett, Clapps Favorite and Seckel pears was $1.75 per bushel basket or tub.

Despite the fact that prune receipts from the Western part of the state were lighter, the slow demand resulted in a price decline in a weaker market. Half bushel baskets of the Fellenberg prunes jobbed out from 75-90 cents occasionally as high as $1.00-$1.05, while the German variety brought 50c-75c.

The market for peaches was dull. Supplies were moderate, but the demand was slow. A large volume of the supply consisted of ordinary to fair quality fruit. Sales of No. 1, 2 inch Elberta from western New York were reported from 90c-$1.25, some good quality, however, realized $1.37½-$1.62½ per bushel basket or tub, small size, poorer and over ripe fruit realized 50c-75c.

The Concord grape market was slightly weaker. Supplies were moderate, but the demand was slow. Hudson valley 12 quart climax baskets of U. S. No. 1 juice jobbed at 33c-38c, principally around 35c.

Why Legion Sponsors Amateur Contests

The promotion of amateur talent has been sweeping the country for several months past, the result being that hundreds of talented men, women and children have been lifted from obscurity and are today earning good professional salaries. Talent has been brought forth by this movement that otherwise would never have been heard and enjoyed by millions of people.

In keeping with this movement, the Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion, during the month of August took up the promotion of amateur contests which can safely be called the first step to possible radio fame.

The committee in charge of these contests were fortunate in obtaining an agreement with the Health Products Corporation, makers of Feen-a-Mint, the delicious chewing gum laxative, and sponsors of the Ray Perkins National Amateur Hour broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up on the Columbia Broadcasting System, whereby each first prize winner of a local contest is positively assured an audition for this famous radio hour.

The audition winner of the contest held August 21st received his audition September 7, 1935, and will be called for rehearsal between October 15 and November 1.

If Kingston Post uncovers several performers with talent enough to be accepted to appear on Ray Perkins Hour it will consider its efforts are successful and worth while.

Another Amateur Night Contest will be held at the Municipal Auditorium September 27, 1935, at 8 p. m. Twenty acts will be presented at prices within reach of every one. 25 cents and 40 cents. All 40 cent seats are reserved.

Call 1914 for reservations. This contest will be staged for the benefit of the Welfare Fund.—Advertisement.

Compares Machine And Hand Milking

Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Careful tests carried on at the State Experiment Station here in which cows were milked by machines at 2, 3 and 5 years of age and by hand at 4 years of age for complete lactation periods, revealed that slightly more milk was given by the hand-milked cows than by those milked by machine and that hand milking had a tendency to maintain production levels throughout a lactation period. It is believed that the differences observed between machine and hand milking were due more to the machines being left on the cows too long than to differences between the two methods of milking. An account of the experiments is given in Station bulletin No. 554, entitled "The Influence of Machine Milking Upon Milk Production," a copy of which may be obtained upon request to the Experiment Station.

Although many investigations have established that cows produce equally well when milked either by machine or by hand, some practical observations have tended to question whether the earlier experiments were conducted with sufficient care to show small differences, says Dr. A. C. Dahlberg, head of the Station Dairy Division and author of the bulletin. "The method of operating the machine and the skill of hand milking should affect the results," he continues. Therefore, in these recent experiments, all conditions which might affect the results were held reasonably uniform throughout the tests.

Results Not Adverse To Machines
"It was found that the percentage of milk fat in the milk was not affected by the method of milking," concludes Dr. Dahlberg, adding that, "Slightly more milk was given by the cows milked by hand, but the differences in production were evident only after the third month of the lactation period. The hand-milked cows were more persistent in maintaining production throughout the lactation period. It is believed that this was due to the relatively long time the machine was left on the cows and indicates the desirability of removing the machine from the cow as soon as possible."

"Finally, these results are not interpreted as being adverse to the use of milking machines, but rather emphasize the need for correct operation," Dr. Dahlberg concludes the bulletin with a number of practical suggestions on the more efficient handling of milking machines.

Films Require Actors To "Get In The Mood"

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The first stage actor you ever meet in pictures will tell you the most difficult thing about films is their being photographed in "pieces." Instead of starting a picture at its beginning, and developing the characters continuously as in a stage play, the films require actors to "get in the mood" time and again.

And the last stage actor you ever meet—and all the others between the first and the last—will tell you the same thing.

So far the movies have been unable to do anything about it. Actors may talk about it, and directors, but in the end it probably will be the cameramen who will do something.

Lens Man Sees Cure

Gregg Toland, one of them, has been working on a scheme which he is frank to admit is beset with difficulties. It is still in the experimental stage, and he has been so busy shooting "The Dark Angel," "Barbary Coast" and currently "Splendor"—for he is Samuel Goldwyn's head cameraman—that time for working on the idea has been limited.

Toland, at 31 one of the youngest head lens men in the business, was assistant to George Barnes on the Gloria Swanson film, "The Ties That Bind," an early talkie. The picture, quite ambitious for its time, was completed in 21 days where many of those pioneer talkies required twice as long.

This speed was due, indirectly, to the general lack of knowledge then in "cutting sound," that is, in assembling dialogue scenes. It was necessary to make the action of a scene continuous, all speeches in the scene completed in natural order. The longer the sequence, the easier the cutter's task.

Lights Are Problem

So cameras and lights were "set up" for long sequences, made possible by following the action from one "room" to another of the set. In each of the rooms three or four cameras shot from different angles. Ten to 12 cameras were used throughout the production. Magnifying lenses accounted, not too satisfactorily, for close-ups.

With all the improvements made in cameras since that time, Toland believes something like this same system might be employed today. The big drawback, of course, is lighting. What is needed to make it practicable is some system of uniform lighting, which would be as effective artistically as the multiple lighting arrangements which in use now, account for many hours of production time. That is what he is working on.

Perfecting the system would cut from ten days to two weeks off shooting.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Page Miss Glory." Marion Davies, after a long screen absence, is surrounded by a group of sure fire players in order to insure the production's success and Miss Davies gets along in a big way as she scores her finest comedy hit in pictures. Briefly, the plot shows the rise of a homely little chambermaid to the winner of a beauty contest. Pat O'Brien almost steals the show as a press agent who rockets Miss Davis to fame through the grace of a winning personality and a composite photograph. Dick Powell as a handsome aviator has to sing but one song and Miss Davies tumbles into his arms for keeps. The whole show is silly satire on beauty contests, and the dialogue, acting and direction is so well done that the show must be placed in the don't miss class. Frank McHugh, Paty Kelly and other Warner Brothers comedy acts are to be found in the cast. Good for an evening of chuckles.

Orpheum: "Carolina" and "Fighting Fury." The opening feature is excellent screen fare even though it is a bit weakened with age and many showings. It stars Janet Gaynor in a story of the old south and Lionel Barrymore lends ample support. "Fighting Fury" is the second full length offering with Kazan, the wonder dog, in the main assignment.

Kingston: "Mad Love" and "This Woman Is Mine." Peter Lorre, the European actor who brings horror to the screen in his strange characterizations, is seen in his first American-made movie during the run of the opening feature at the Kingston. This time he plays the role of a mad surgeon who resorts to all manner of trickery and cunning in order to win the girl he loves from another man. It isn't very happy entertainment and the whole affair is pretty sordid stuff. Colin Clive and Frances Drake are helpful. "This Woman Is Mine" is the other attraction with Gregory Ratoff featured.

Tomorrow, Broadway: "She." For something different in talkie entertainment, this mythical drama takes the blue ribbon with plenty to spare. Was up beyond the Arctics in the strange kingdom of Kor, ruled over by a beautiful and dangerous woman who has stayed young for 500 years because the "dams of life" is known to her and she guards it with an awful jealousy. To this strange land go explorers trading down the rumors that such a land exists. This discovery this strange kingdom and the queen falls in love with one of the men. With a cast of thousands, magnificent settings, and an ancient present set of costumes, "She" becomes distinctive when seen, well worth seeing. Helen Catherine, Nigel Bruce, Brian Mark and Randolph Scott head the group of featured players. The story was adapted from the Rider Haggard novel and was under the supervision of Merian C. Cooper.

Orpheum: "Ladies Love Danger" and "The First World War." The Orpheum offers two direct opportunities in the double feature bill, the first being a wild, melodramatic tale of intrigue, danger, romance and thrills against a sophisticated setting with Mona Barrie and Gilbert Roland featured. The second attraction is a story of the late World War, showing official pictures of how easy it is to start a world disaster. Royalty, diplomats and all the routine of state are shown in their game of playing for world conflict and actual scenes on land, in the air and on the sea are shown in all their horror. If anything would help toward peace, this picture should help for it shows war in all its grim horror and uselessness. Kingston: Same.

Says League Unable to Solve African Crisis

Turkey, declined unanimously to submit to the council a historical report describing its activities in narrative form.

The council is expected to receive the report Thursday morning, and Italian sources indicated that when the council meets the Italian delegation probably will be absent.

It was explained that such abstention would be in pursuance of the Italian policy of not participating in discussions of the Ethiopian question when Ethiopians are likely to speak at the council table.

With the drawing up of the report, the committee acknowledged defeat in its efforts to find a basis for a solution of the crisis.

The report will be submitted to the council Thursday morning and, with the submission of the report, the committee will cease to exist juridically.

Text of Report

The text will be published tonight or tomorrow—as soon as it can be printed. To the text will be attached an annex containing a summary of the "observations" made by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the chief Italian delegate, to Salvador De Madariaga of Spain, the committee's chairman, on Sunday night.

These "observations" were the cause of much confusion because they were variously announced as representing the official and unofficial Italian attitude. The committee members themselves were understood to have been divided on this point. The result was an agreement to publish the observations.

The Italian government is understood to have agreed to the publication in this form providing Baron Aloisi's replies were designated simply as "observations."

A high authority said that leaders in the peace effort will make a final appeal to Mussolini between now and Thursday, when the council is to meet. French sources said that if this appeal fails, they believed Premier Laval was prepared to announce to the council: "The League covenant comes first."

Mrs. Mildred Platt Struck by a Car

Mrs. Mildred Platt of 52 Elmdorf street, was struck and injured by an automobile driven by John L. Crosby of 154 Prospect street about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. She was removed to the Kingston Hospital where it was found she had sustained a fractured shoulder, a possible fractured rib and leg injury. Mr. Crosby in reporting the accident said he was driving up Broadway and in front of the Lehr street that Mrs. Platt ran out in front of his car.

REPORT THAT COUNTERFEIT BILLS ARE BEING CIRCULATED

It is reported that a number of counterfeit $20 bills have been circulated in the town and village of Saugerties. The bills passed are drawn on the Federal Reserve Bank of Texas, bear a portrait of Jackson and are numbered K32351176A. Deputy Sheriff "Hank" Gillmore of Saugerties, who has already attained a reputation as a sleuth of no mean ability, is working on the case, and news that this particular "shower of the queer" has been apprehended, or at least tracked down, may be expected.

Legionnaires Hold Huge Parade Today At 17th Convention

St. Louis, Sept. 24 (AP).—One hundred thousand American Legionnaires dusted off their uniforms and polished up tin hats today for six hours of music and spectacle through the streets of St. Louis.

Regular convention business was waived for the day in favor of the parade, the outstanding public demonstration of the 17th annual convention here.

Small groups in committee rooms, however, plotted the order of business for tomorrow, the day that will see the legion's ambitious 1935-36 program, geared around a demand for cash payment of the bonus, set in motion.

But to the thousands of delegates, alternates and visitors it was a day for marching. At least 125 musical organizations, including 100 drum and bugle corps, will participate.

Back of the parade ran the steady under-current of convention politics, as cities and delegates jockeyed for position in the business sessions of Wednesday and Thursday. The race for a successor to Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., the national commander, appeared wide open, with nine announced candidates in the field, and four cities ballyhooed their bids for the 1936 meeting. New York city is seeking the 1937 convention.

Next year's convention became a matter for the entire convention week, as the committee on time and place, unable to reach a decision, voted to toss the problem back to the delegates tomorrow.

In the report of its legislation committee, also tomorrow, the Legion was certain to renew its perennial demand for full payment of the bonus. Seven hundred departmental resolutions were in the convention hopper, and 45 of them urged unqualified payment of the adjusted compensation certificates.

Appeal Argued in Olive Assessment

An appeal was argued Monday before the Appellate Division in Albany in the New York city vs. Town of Olive assessment case. This is the case in which the late Alvin R. Mambert, as referee, recommended an assessment of New York city property in the sum of $6,300,000. The city of New York took an appeal from the decision of the referee. Harry H. Flemming and Robert G. Groves appeared for the town and assessors. Sitting Monday were Justices Hill, Crapser, Rhodes, McNamee and Bliss.

The action originally arose when the city of New York sought by certiorari to review the assessment laid by the assessors on city property, on grounds that the property had been over-assessed. Hearings were held before the referee and after lengthy proceedings a report was made. The city then appealed on the grounds that the referee had placed too high a valuation on the property.

MARTHA FLANNERY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Martha Flannery of 10 South Clinton avenue, was injured shortly after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon as she was crossing Greenkill avenue at Clinton avenue, when struck by a car driven by Louise Cockburn of Mt. Pleasant. She was bruised about the face and body. Her injuries were dressed by Dr. Frederick Snyder.

Nun Seriously Wounded.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—Sister Mary Cornelius, nursing nun at Mercy Hospital, was wounded gravely this morning when a delirious patient slashed her throat with a razor. Police Captain Daniel Regan and Assistant Detective Chief Thomas J. McGreevy said the razor was wielded by Robert J. Berry, 42, of Buffalo, suffering from a leg infection. Berry was placed under police guard in City Hospital after the attack.

WORK PROGRESSING ON EAST CHESTER BY-PASS

Work on building the East Chester street by-pass to Route 9-W is progressing. The three strips of concrete have been laid from Broadway up East Chester street, and all of the concrete within the city limits will shortly be laid. Instead of the usual gray coat of cement the road is being constructed with black cement.

Flight to Brazil.

Milwaukee, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Herbert F. Johnson, Jr., expedition took off from the county airport today on the first leg of a flight to the jungles of Brazil, where its members plan to spend three months in industrial-scientific exploration. The two-motored amphibian plane, with E. H. Schlanser at the controls, lifted from the field without incident and headed for Miami, Fla.

Complaint Received.

Robert Hart of Kingston was arrested at Goldrick's yard in the town of Ulster by Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough on a warrant charging assault, third degree, and held for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Acker Monday evening. At that time the complaint was dismissed. It was charged that defendant had struck one Daniel Pope.

With AM Scheme.

Alexandria, Sept. 24 (AP).—Father Ignatius, nephew of King Farouk of Egypt, is proceeding to Ethiopia today, his offer of service having been accepted by Emperor Haile Selassie. He will sail from Port Said to Djibouti in the liner Portofino, just now his services will be used. He will not be known until he reaches Addis Ababa.

Charge Main Failed To Pay Alimony

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick has signed an order to show cause, returnable before Supreme Court Justice Raymond E. Aldrich at special term in Poughkeepsie on September 28, in the matter of Sadie E. Main, plaintiff, against J. James Main, defendant. The order to show cause directed that the defendant appear and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court for failure to comply with an order of the court which directed that the defendant pay to plaintiff the sum of $10.50 weekly as alimony and also $75 counsel fees. Joseph Avis appears for plaintiff and F. W. Brooks for defendant.

The order of Justice Schrick recites the facts that an order was made some time ago directing that defendant pay to plaintiff the sum of $7 a week for alimony pending trial of the divorce action. Later in June this amount was increased by order of Justice Aldrich to $10.50 weekly. The order states that it appears the defendant is in arrears $80 on the alimony payments and has not paid the counsel fees. The order directs that defendant show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court and why he should not give security for payments of sums of money as ordered by the court.

Mexico's Calendar Stone

Among the sights of Mexico City is the famous Calendar stone. It was cut from volcanic rock by Aztec Indians, and the work was done more than four centuries ago, during the reign of the Aztec ruler, Montezuma II, says a writer in the Detroit News.

Aztec tribes were in control of Mexico when it was invaded by the Spaniards. The present name of the country is believed to have come from an old Aztec war-god who was called "Mexitli" or "Mexitl." It is easy to see how his name could have been changed to "Mexico."

The Calendar stone is on view in a museum in Mexico City. On it is carved a great circular figure in the shape of the sun; and the width of the figure is 12 feet.

The stone is composed of volcanic rock, and weighs 20 tons as it exists today. The rock appears to have been obtained from a quarry several miles from Mexico City; and it is estimated that before the carving was done, the rough block weighed from 40 to 50 tons.

It may be that the block was cut down before it was moved from the quarry; but, in any case, it was too heavy for people to lift. There were no oxen or other large beasts of burden in Mexico before the white men came, so it must have been moved with the help of rollers.

At the center of the Calendar stone is a picture or symbol of the sun god and with the rest of the carving, it tells the Aztec story of "the world's history."

The Aztecs declared that four suns had existed before the one they saw in the sky. The first sun was supposed to have been destroyed by a jaguar, the second by a whirlwind, the third by a rain of fire, and the fourth by a flood. It was believed that the fifth sun would be destroyed by an earthquake.

Solids, Not Fat, Curd, Complicated Chemically

The solids, not fat, or curd, in butter are still more complicated chemically. Lime, phosphorus and sulphur are some of its constituents.

The history of butter is interesting. It is mentioned in the earliest records of Asiatic peoples, and has since been made and used by man wherever milk-producing animals were available. There are records of butter used as food nearly 4,000 years ago. It was also esteemed as ointment and for the treatment of wounds. In the Bible there are nine references to butter. Honey and butter were brought to David when he was hungry and weary, and Job in his misery longed for his better days when butter was plentiful in the Proverbs is the definite statement that "the churning of milk bringeth forth butter."

In early times in this country, farmers made butter merely for their own use. Then, as herds increased, they had a surplus for sale, and finally the creamery was developed, where the farmers in a neighborhood could have the butter made in a central place, and sold from there. It is believed that the first creamery in this country was built in Orange county, N. Y., in 1856.—Rural New Yorker.

Jens of Sand Cover Many Populous Towns in China

Sands of sand in Inner Asia have for thousands of years been creeping down over China. Picked up by the powerful winter winds sweeping down from the North this sand dust, ground to powder by the great ice age glaciers, blankets the Chinese cities and fields. Drifting dunes—great, slow-moving waves of sand—creep through fertile valleys and populous towns smothering out their life. This has been going on for ages, says a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, and occasionally changing water courses which cut through the yellow layers to old ground levels reveal secrets held for centuries by the sands.

Some years ago a tourist took a long drive over the wasteland, and found that the sand had covered the ruins of the Tang Dynasty. The sand was so deep that it was a great trouble to get out of the sand. The ruins were so deep that it was a great trouble to get out of the sand. The ruins were so deep that it was a great trouble to get out of the sand.

At the reception given to the Milton school teachers and board of education a program of unusual interest marked the first meeting of the Milton Parent-Teacher Association at the home of Mrs. James Scott Thursday evening. Mrs. James Scott played several piano selections. Mrs. Irving Clarke and William Donaldson were soloists. Over 10,000 Students Received Federal Aid

New York, Sept. 23.—In the academic year 1934-1935 federal student aid was given to a monthly average of 10,064 needy students to make possible their attendance at 41 institutions of college rank in New York state, the State TERA reported today.

The monthly average of $143.15.65 that went in wages to the students, an average per student of $14.25 for useful work that the institutions could not otherwise have had done—was paid through the TERA, though the administration of the program was entirely by the colleges. Continuance of college aid this year will be under the newly organized National Youth Administration, of which Fairfield Osborn, Jr., is administrator in New York state.

Of the students aided, 69 per cent were men and 31 per cent women; 65 per cent were new students, not enrolled in January, 1934, and 64 per cent were old students. Clerical and office work that the colleges could not provide for in their regular budgets work in libraries and museums, laboratory and research work, and assistance in education, recreation, health and welfare are among the accomplishments of the program.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

Time is Eastern Daylight Saving.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Until the winner of the National League pennant race is decided, WEA-FNBC has obtained permission from Ford Frick, president of the league, to broadcast play by play of the crucial series in St. Louis between the Cardinals and the Cubs. How many of the five games will be described by Hal Totten will depend on whether the Cubs' drive to the flag, now backed by 15 straight wins, continues. They need two more games to clinch the pennant.

Start of the first broadcast on Wednesday has been set for 4:45 p. m. A total of 130 stations are to be lined up for the NBC broadcast of the St. Louis fight tonight, 88 of which are regular chain outlets. Under an advancement in schedule Eddie Cantor will return to his Sunday night CBS broadcasts this week-end instead of next.

Although the first Saturday afternoon in October probably will be pretty well filled up with the end of baseball—the world series—leaving little or no room for football, the networks are going to use the Saturday interim, that is next Saturday, to a good start with the gridiron sport.

Each division of NBC will have a game, it has been decided finally, while CBS is broadcasting. The WEA-FNBC section will carry the details of the Kansas-Notre Dame contest, the game that CBS announced some time ago Ted Husing would do for that network. The NBC announcers will be Bob Brown of Chicago and Ford Bond of New York. The broadcast will open shortly after 3.

The other NBC side, WJZ and associates, will carry Navy vs. William and Mary at 2:45, with Bill Slater, the Brooklyn boys' academy headmaster who got into the network football swing a year or so ago, at the mike.

WHEN RIOTING GRIPPED DENVER

Risking life and limb, Staff Photographer Henry G. Eisenhand of The Associated Press' Denver bureau, went into the bloody rioting of relief agitators in Denver to secure this photograph. It shows Patrolman C. V. Satt, bleeding and dust covered, as he was aided by a comrade after being felled by a shower of stones and beer bottles. The riot was still raging when the picture was made. The Associated Press landed this and two other pictures in the United States Camera salon to open in New York October 1.

Ellenville Grocer Called Bankrupt

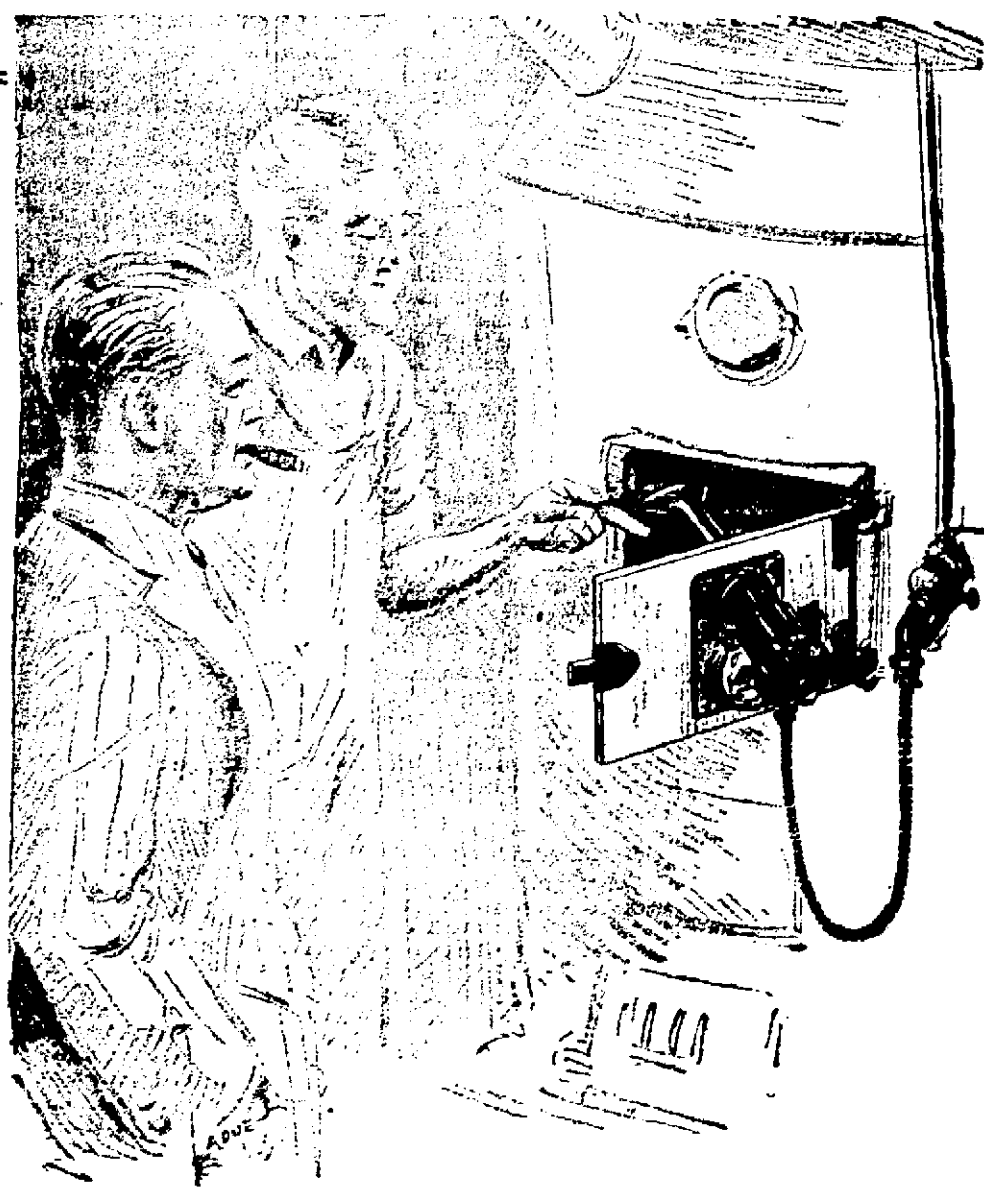

New York, Sept. 23 (Special).—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court here today against Jack Kaplan, who operates a grocery business at Ellenville.

The petitioning creditors and the amounts of their claims are Zwisch and Schwartz, owed $421, E. L. Tichenor Co., Inc., $69, and Snyder-Fancher Co., $348. They claim that Kaplan, while insolvent, committed an act of bankruptcy in allowing a preferential payment to Sophia Boxer in the amount of $1,225 by the assignment of his chattels.

Foodstuffs Are Issue.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—The price of foodstuffs was picked up as a campaign issue today by the Republican State Committee in an announcement of the formation of a statewide organization of housewives "to wage war upon the increased cost of living as a result of a New Deal policy." The plans of the G. O. P. high command was outlined in the weekly news letter of the state committee which said the move resulted from hundreds of protest letters received by Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, vice-chairman of the committee. Mrs. Bacon was quoted as saying "the price of foodstuffs has soared to such an extent that ordinary commodities which were on every table prior to the Roosevelt debacle are now classified as luxuries."

"I have one of these FIRE DOR burners in my own furnace..."

TAKE MY WORD FOR IT, as a heating contractor, you'll find it a great convenience this Fall and next Spring. On a chilly morning, instead of splitting wood and waiting for a fire to kindle, you simply light a match. If the day turns out warm, you turn it off as easily as a range burner, so there's no overheating.

"When the weather gets cold enough to need furnace heat all the time, you simply lift off this door unit, replace the regular fire door and go back to your solid fuel. The furnace hasn't been changed.

"It's the best way I know to sample automatic gas heat. You have no big investment—you save on fuel because there's no overheating—and you save most of the inconvenience, which comes during the changeable between-seasons months."

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bright Boys

New Wilmington, Pa.—Westminster College freshmen made these answers to a Bible test:

The epistles were wives of the apostles.
"Revolutions" is the last chapter in the Bible.
Lazarus is a city in Palestine.

Sweet Flue

Hebron, Conn.—Workmen found that the obstruction which clogged the chimney of St. Peter's Episcopal rectory was 40 pounds of honey. They removed the hive.

Lesson

Philadelphia—The manager of a second-hand automobile mart showed a workman with a lunchbox out of the place.
"Look!" said a rival dealer a few minutes later, clutching some greenbacks in his hand. "A fellow just took money out of a lunchbox and bought a hack I've been trying to get rid of two years."

Speeder on Horseback

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—For speeding on horseback, Magistrate Frank Giorgio fined Morris Wechsler, 21, $2. The magistrate said that galloping a horse in a park endangered women and children; also, there's a specific ordinance against it.

July Death Rate Lowest Recorded

Albany, Sept. 23.—The health conditions of the people of the state during the month of July were reported by the State Department of Health today as "in general, favorable." Vital statistics for the month show that the total death rate, 9.6 per 1,000 population, was the lowest ever recorded for the month.

Infant mortality, 40 deaths under one year per 1,000 live births, was but slightly higher than the minimum monthly rate recorded a year ago. Maternal mortality, 39 deaths per 10,000 total births, has never been lower in July. New low rates were recorded for the mortality from typhoid fever, diphtheria, tuberculosis, acute and chronic nephritis and drowning. Among the negative facts, it is noted that the death rate from diabetes (27.6 per 100,000 population) was the highest for the month.

A statement from the department says: "In view of the frequently expressed concern over the high mortality from appendicitis, it is reassuring to state that the rate (14.1 per 100,000 population) was the lowest for the month in 17 years and that there has been no increase in the monthly mortality since December, 1933. The death rate from pneumonia (39.0) was but slightly above the minimum for all months recorded a year ago while mortality from influenza (1.2) has not been lower since 1921. The rates of suicide and homicide, 15.8 and 5.2, were the lowest in seven and six years respectively. Mortality from automobile accidents (22.3) was below that of July, 1934.

"The birth rate of the entire state (14.1 per 1,000 population) was the lowest ever recorded for the month.

"The total number of cases of reportable diseases was greater than in July of the preceding year by nearly five thousand. Cases of measles increased by thirty-two hundred, German measles by twelve hundred, scarlet fever by two hundred and forty. In the entire state there were reported 148 cases of poliomyelitis as compared with a monthly average for the preceding five years of 176."

Claire Trevor Ill.

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP)—Her condition serious, Claire Trevor, fair-haired film actress, was ill today with influenza. Pneumonia threatened to develop, after her fever rose to 104 degrees last night.

Senator Pope Likens League to U. S. Before Drive on Gangsters

This summary of observations by Senator James P. Pope, Idaho Democrat, in which he expresses the belief that the League of Nations is in a position similar to that of the United States department of justice before it began "shootings from the hip" was written after a five-week visit to European capitals.

By SENATOR JAMES P. POPE (Written for The Associated Press)
Aboard S. S. Volendam, en route to New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—The League of Nations today is in something of the same position in which the United States department of justice was up until a couple of years ago.

The department of justice never was a very important agency in public opinion until it began its aggressive campaign against gangsters. As soon as it began shooting on sight, disregarding red tape in the pursuit of criminals, it attained overnight unprecedented popularity.

The same reaction would greet the league should it begin "shootings from the hip."

During the past fortnight I have heard leaders of many small nations express the most emphatic opinions on the Ethiopian dispute. Any delay on the part of the league, they believe, will be fatal to world peace and to themselves eventually.

Almost unanimous are they in the belief that war, once started, will spread. They feel that a war, like the Eugenic wars, once revived and made a vogue, will take the world by storm.

It is small wonder that they view with alarm the procedural delays. The attitude of these smaller states coincides exactly with what I believe to be the attitude of the majority of the American people.

Because the league has not taken any aggressive course in times of crisis, it is criticized by about half the people of the world.

It is said, and I agree, that the League of Nations has not entirely carried out the purpose of Wilson and other founders who undoubtedly expected it to be a live and aggressive international emergency.

This it has been unable to do, and I believe it has suffered thereby. This I believe to be due to the characteristic attitude of the old world of never attacking problems with the same enthusiastic diligence symbolic of animation.

The League of Nations must, according to its procedure, determine whether Italy is committing an aggression and other matters in detail known the world over, but must go through the mills of formality before action can be taken.

An American cannot tolerate all this "delay" and the imminent danger of being gobbled up has caused smaller powers of the league to arrive at a conclusion although they reach it by a different path.

The demand for action has speeded up the league to a comparatively rapid pace. Its committee of five is anxious to bring in its report of recommendations this week, and it is more than likely that something more will come from its deliberations than has been the case in many years.

Westbrook Heads Chest Drive.

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Stillman F. Westbrook of Hartford, Conn., vice president of the Etna Life Insurance Company, was elected president of Community Chests and Councils at the annual business meeting held today in connection with the 1935 mobilization for human needs conference. Westbrook takes the place of the late Frederic R. Kellogg, who died last month. He takes charge at a time when the welfare organizations are preparing a drive to raise more than the $70,000,000 they received last year.

Wars May Come But Ethiopia's 'Toy Railway' Chugs Along On Same Semi-Weekly Schedule

A neutral railway, operating a narrow gauge line into the heart of a war-torn country, may be the anomaly presented in Ethiopia. Officials of the French-owned line from Addis Ababa to Djibouti, Red Sea port in French Somaliland, have announced that they intend to keep their trains moving even if Italy attacks the African kingdom. The illustration shows passengers aboard the semi-weekly passenger train and Somali porters handling baggage at the frontier.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Paris (AP)—War or no war.

Ethiopia's only railroad plans to operate its two regular passenger trains a week, with stops overnight, its through boat trains whenever there is a boat at Djibouti, and freight trains as the traffic justifies.

Italy's dispute with Ethiopia up to now has made little difference to the French-owned line, which has not even had its carloadings increased by munitions shipments, officials say.

They hope hostilities will not disrupt a traffic which has suffered already from the depression.

The dinky little trains of the narrow-gauge line between Djibouti and Addis Ababa might rival Europe's famous Orient Express, or an American transcontinental limited, for adventure, picturesque and glamour were it along the hard-worn routes of tourist travel.

Except for the through boat-trains which cover the 485 miles of the line's entire length in 27 to 33 hours during the dry season, it takes three days to make the journey, for daylight is an important safety factor on the Ethiopian line.

Wild tribes have been known to steal the ties from under the rails and the tropical torrents sometimes wash out track or dump boulders on it. Hence the regular passenger trains stop before sundown.

Some indication of the adventure of railroad travel in Ethiopia, as the trains crawl through desert and mountains, climbing 7,900 feet to Addis Ababa, is afforded by the time tables, available in Paris headquarters.

Travelers are warned by the time tables that guns are likely to be seized by the Ethiopian customs agents at Dire Dawa, the first overnight stop, for the importation of arms and ammunition is strictly forbidden without written permission of the government. This is more important than it seems, since big game hunting is the principal attraction the railroad has had to offer tourists.

Upon arriving at Djibouti, the passengers for Addis Ababa find a boat-train awaiting him—there is a boat about once a week—or he may wait for one of the regular trains, leaving Tuesdays and Saturdays. These are made up of one car divided into first and second-class compartments and three or four third-class cars, with wooden seats, in which travel the noisy natives.

Black porters put the passenger's baggage aboard the train at Djibouti at 6:58 a. m. and the train starts clattering, groaning and swaying from the Red Sea coast across the scorching desert to Dire Dawa, where it arrives at 6:10 p. m. to put up for the night.

Thompson, Olga Schleele, Elsa McLean and Marge Osterhout, The Misses Thompson and McLean were the two highest on the first ballot and were the final candidates. By the second ballot, Miss Thompson was elected, 167-153.

A meeting will be held in the near future to elect the other officers, secretary and treasurer.

Dame Rumor.
The first issue of Dame Rumor, the high school paper, was off the press this afternoon.

The issue featured the Senior elections and an article in regard to the plans for the new Junior High School. The first page also contained articles on the Athletic Association membership drive, the assembly speakers, last year's scholarship winners, and the announcement of the A. A. play.

The paper also featured a column by Snoope, a mysterious "see-all, tell all" columnist. Two complimentary rumors will be written this year, "They Say," by Cecile Thompson, and "Perspectives and Viewpoints," by Fred Holcomb. As a special feature for the freshmen, a synopsis of the clubs to which freshmen are eligible was printed.

The sports page contained a preview of the Varsity-Alumni game, and a picture and interview of Elmer Hopper, captain of the football team.

The aim of the staff of this year's paper is to put out a paper that will gain the recognition of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, of which Dame Rumor is a member.

Mr. Dooley's Question.
SO FAR as the constitutional issue is concerned, a whole flood of oratory leaves much to be said.

Both sides declare they are for the constitution. Neither side has said it would favor an amendment, or would oppose an amendment.

The issue would seem to be one of degree—a question exactly how far the federal government should go in regulating local activities.

It remains for some one to draw that line in words of one syllable. It is hard to see how the rank and file ever will gather a clear understanding from the abstract arguments of lawyers or the circumlocutions of those on both sides—who do not themselves appear certain just what they will favor.

Perhaps it is too much to suppose the issue ever will be translated into plain English. Perhaps the electorate will have to do as Mr. Dooley predicted years ago that a certain jury would do in a celebrated murder case blinding on circumstantial evidence:

Listen to all the hypothetical questions and the technical answers of the expert witnesses, and then ask itself two questions: First, does the defendant look as if he had killed the victim? Second, did the victim look as if she deserved to be killed?

Sleep On Buffet Cots

The traveler sleeps on a cot in the hot station buffet until time to start at 8:35 a. m. the second day's zig-zagging climb to Awash. Arriving at Awash at 5:55 p. m., he again sleeps in the station buffet until he resumes his trip at 6:30 a. m. on the third morning to arrive finally at Addis Ababa at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The boat-trains, operated during the dry season from October to May when the roadbed is more secure, creep along in the night, their native engineers and firemen peering to make certain with the aid of a powerful headlight that the tracks are clear.

Freight Just Now And Then

Thus traveled 115,000 passengers last year, of whom 108,000 were white swathed natives in third class. For them the fare between Djibouti and Addis Ababa is $5.57, but for the European in second class it is $18.38 and the de luxe traveler in first class pays $39.10.

Freight trains, which take five days for the one-way trip, are made up only when enough goods accumulate to warrant the trip. There has been a slight increase in freight traffic this year, officials say, and perhaps this indicates the movement of war materials.

But the foreign embargo against Ethiopia have, the officials assert, deprived the railroad of any heavy munitions traffic it might have expected.

DOLLARS WASTED ON UPKEEP CAN'T BUY NEW ROADS

Interior roads seem cheap and easy to build. They stretch a paving fund so that it covers a lot of territory. But after a year or two, the trouble begins! Maintenance costs go up and up. Soon all your paving money is spent on upkeep... and no more new roads are built.

That's why it's wise—and economical—to build concrete roads. Concrete lasts! It requires almost no upkeep. Each year, the paving fund builds more miles of concrete until the whole job is done—for keeps.

Concrete's smooth, non-skid surface is safe and satisfactory to drive on. It speeds up traffic... reduces accidents... saves motorists up to two cents a mile in gas, tires, oil and repairs, as compared with driving on inferior roads.

Get concrete. Insist on it—for safety, comfort and economy.

"A ring-side table for two at the swellest, show-offiest place in town!"

THE NEW FALL FASHIONS

...and whatever you do, don't miss them!

WORDS are cheap, especially adjectives. And it's a fact that the finer and more worthwhile a thing is, the cheaper they're apt to sound when you try to tell about it.

So when something comes along as eye-opening and breath-taking as the new fall styles for 1935, all we can do is sigh with frustration, gracefully acknowledge our own inability to do them justice and urge our gentle reader to go see for herself.

The intoxicating kick inherent in doing the stores won't be limited to the girlish sex entirely. There's something about a new fall gown THIS year that makes a man forget his bank balance, reach for his check-book and then dive for the phone book and a ring-side table reservation for self and lady at the swellest, show-offiest place in town.

Some there may be, who on beholding a fall creation, will whisper wistfully of Empress Josephine and compare its wearer to the titled mystery women in the continental courts of a vanished era. But comparisons are apt to be odious. We have our opinion, of course, on the new fall styles—and being a newspaper we musn't keep it to ourselves.

FRANKLY — we like 'em!

Mightiest Ringside Crowd In Eight Years At Fight Tonight

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—The roar of the mightiest crowd that has been lured to the ringside by the fight ballroom in eight years—signaling the return of pugilistic sports to the vast open spaces of the Yankee Stadium.

Built a dozen years ago to exploit the hitting power of Babe Ruth, about the time that Jack Dempsey was pounding Luis Angel Firpo into senselessness, the stadium furnishes the setting now for a fight fantasy unknown since Tex Rickard died and unsuspected until a 21-year-old negro took the country by storm with his knockout punch.

It's one of the most amazing things that has ever happened in sports, no matter what the outcome this evening as Joe Louis, the chocolate soldier with the devastating fists, meets the comeback challenge of the wild-swinging, emotionally-furious, Max Baer, former world heavyweight champion.

Louis The Drawing Card

In scarcely a year, Louis has become the greatest individual drawing card in American sports. The answer to a fight promoter's prayer, after a period in which heavyweights pugilism has plumbed new depths of mediocrity and financial disaster, the sensational Detroit negro has electrified the entire fight outlook.

Win or lose against the most formidable antagonist he has faced, Louis is the main magnet for the greatest crowd that ever gathered for a non-championship match.

The box-office reports forecast a probable sellout or the nearest thing to it in fight history. The weather man forecasts "fair and warmer tonight," with nothing for Mike Jacobs to worry about except the ultimate job of matching the winner with James J. Braddock for the world heavyweight championship in 1936.

"Gate" Over $1,000,000

A capacity crowd tonight in the "House That Ruth Built" means close to 95,000 spectators and an aggregate "gate" of $1,184,850, more than twice as much money as any prize fight has drawn in five years and a mark surpassed only slightly by the memorable Firpo-Dempsey battle of 1923.

Measured by present-day financial standards, it is much more startling than the fact that the last Dempsey-Tunney duel attracted nearly $3,000,000 in gate receipts at Chicago in 1927.

It's the old-time lure of the knockout wallop, the blood and thunder stuff of the prize ring that has brought to New York the greatest gathering of notables for any sporting event since the boomdays.

Tremendous Stake Involved

They are not likely to be disappointed. Not only is the entire setting such as to arouse the utmost in combative instincts on either side, but there is a tremendous stake involved.

Baer and Louis are assured close to $300,000 each as their share of tonight's spoils, but victory will mean perhaps $500,000 more within the next year, including a shot at the heavyweight crown.

Whether the sullen, sphinx-like Louis flatters Baer as he has most of two dozen previous professional opponents or whether the curly-haired Californian, with the berserk fury of his attack, blasts the resistance of the youthful negro, the fight figures to be a highly dramatic, dynamic duel.

Caution on either side could prolong the fight and disappoint the thousands anticipating a repetition of the Dempsey-Firpo brawl. It will be a terrific jolt, in fact, if one or the other isn't flattened long before the 15-round limit.

Baer Must Win Early

The best guess is that the fight will last not more than six or seven rounds. Baer's main hopes rest in an early onslaught that will overpower the negro, weaken his defense and provide the opening for a finishing attack.

The Californian has made no secret of this battle plan. It would seem he has no alternative. Baer has not the speed, the stamina or the boxing ability to cope with Louis in a drawn-out engagement.

The negro's chances, if he weathers the opening blast, should increase with the bell for each succeeding round. Louis can afford to bide his time. He is a methodical fighter, the kind who likes to size up an opponent thoroughly and study all angles before letting loose. When he strikes, however, he wastes no ammunition and he shoots to kill.

The Louis camp, it seemed, was not likely to be in any mood for characteristic wisecracks from Baer. In advance the negro's managers said they would seek official action to prevent the use of "artificial stimulants" in Baer's corner.

Fear "Rough-house" Tactics

So much talk has been circulated that Baer would resort to "rough-house" tactics from the outset that the state athletic commissioners were primed to deliver some solemn warnings at the weighing in today.

So pronounced was the agitation along tin-ear alley last night respecting Baer's possible plan of battle that Jack Dempsey said he might reconsider acting as one of the Californian's seconds.

The general belief was that Dempsey, a stockholder in the Baer combination, would go through with his original plan, but the old "Manassa Mauler" was described as highly perturbed by the suggestion he would influence Max to employ unfair tactics.

Baer's board of strategy had a session with Dempsey last night, shortly after the Californian's arrival by train from his camp at Speculator, N. Y. Louis remained at his quarters in Pompton Lakes, N. J., until this morning.

The main bout, which will be broadcast over a national broadcasting company hookup, was set for 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Des Moines—Hymie Wiseman, Des Moines, won on a foul from Frankie Wolfgram, Canada, both featherweights (10).

New York—Eric Seelig, 166, Germany, knocked out Al Rossi, 164½, New Haven, Conn., (8).

Psychologist Picks Louis, Unless Baer Gives Early Knockout

(Editor's note: The probable winner of tonight's heavyweight fight is picked by a method of scientific analysis new to pugilism by J. L. Moreno, M. D., psychiatrist who studied both fighters in their training camps. His reasons follow.)

By J. L. MORENO, M. D.
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP)—Joe Louis should win tonight's fight with Max Baer by psychological probabilities that score more than two to one in the negro's favor.

1. The greatest probability is Louis to win by a technical knockout any time after the ninth round, or take the decision.

2. The second probability is Louis to knock Baer out in a middle round.

3. There is an outside chance for Baer to knock out Louis within three rounds.

These conclusions are based on some psychological forces and personality traits directly affecting the fighters as I have seen them in the training camps.

Baer's Flashy Attack

In punching ability Louis on the average hits harder. But in flashes of attack, when in his full strength, Baer may hit the harder.

Max Baer is a "spontaneous" personality, that is, one who does his best when meeting the unexpected and the emergency.

He may be expected to enter the ring over-excited and tense. The excitement will be the effect of his well wishers and will be worse if his trainer permits anyone except himself to be with Baer in the dressing room just before the fight.

If Baer takes the plan of battle most natural to him, he will work himself up to quick flashes of attack. These are estimated, from watching him in training, as lasting nearly a minute.

He may stretch them at best to two minutes, but the more he extends his spurs, the more he is paralyzed in his efforts immediately afterward, and the greater risk he takes.

Baer's Weak Moments

A clever opponent, well directed, may wait for these moments and concentrate his attack during them.

The damage done by Louis in the middle rounds may be so great that Baer, trying in the second half of the fight to begin a new series of spurts, is too far gone to do anything but weaken himself more.

In effect he then would be defeating himself, a sort of psychological pugilistic suicide. Yet that seems to be the risk Baer must take, for his trainers know he must win by a knockout. A knockout plan of battle, if it fails, cannot but produce the situation I describe.

According to this Louis would seem a sure winner. But a psychological factor may enter the picture and change the whole show.

Blackburn Thinks—Louis Fights

The strength of Louis' battle plan lies in the exquisite relationship between him and the cunning Blackburn in his corner. Blackburn thinks and plans, Louis fights accordingly.

The relationship makes Louis stronger, but in a certain way also unfree. Louis is dependent on Blackburn to a large degree.

Baer is a unique personality. There are certain factors in him which cannot be predicted accurately. Blackburn may send Louis out in the sixth to deliver a knockout. Louis may come back unsuccessful. What would happen to Joe Louis' mind if he failed several times?

He might become less confident. What is more dangerous, he might lose faith in the man in his corner. Then we may see a highly irritated Louis, unable to rise to an emergency which is not figured out by Blackburn.

There are many other factors. But weighing all the evidence, the most probable outcome is Louis to win unless Baer can knock him out in the first three rounds.

Baer-Louis Returns Tonight at Legion

There will be "open house" at the American Legion tonight for all servicemen and a cordial invitation is extended to them to hear the returns on the Baer-Louis fight at the Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street. Refreshments will be served.

"FRITZ THE FATALIST" SEEMS TO BE UNDULY PESSIMISTIC

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP)—Although the surface evidence is all to the contrary, Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler is so pessimistic about Princeton's football outlook this year that he'll be startled if the Tigers win a single game.

They're tagging him "Fritz the Fatalist."

His squad numbers more than 70 candidates. By the time it is pared down for the opening game with Penna October 5, he will be three deep in every position with most of the material veterans from last year's campaign.

He has all the man power he can handle, but he thinks the squad is not so promising as a unit as it was a year ago. The graduation of last year's captain and center, Moe Kallbaugh, left a gap in the lineup that has Crisler worried.

"It's a silly stunt to say to your kids, 'We're going to win every game' and then have them lose one," said Crisler. "The result after the defeat usually is that the players become completely despondent and don't fully recover for a couple of games."

Jersey City, N. J.—Willard O'Connor, 144, Scranton, Pa., outpointed Teddy Lober, 145½, Keansburg, N. J., (10).

100,000 GREET CHAMPION TIGERS

A hundred thousand wildly cheering fans turned out in Detroit to show their enthusiasm over the Detroit Tigers' first place victory in the American League. Colonials Win 7 to 6 In First Game for City Softball Title

The unexpected, to many at least, happened Monday evening at Athletic Field, when before the largest crowd ever to witness a softball game in Kingston, Art Kaplan's highly touted Olathe Apple Knockers, champions of the Senior Softball League, went down to defeat before the onslaught of the Colonials, Club League champions. It was the first of a three-game series for the championship of the city.

The Colonials took the lead in the first inning and were never in danger except for a last inning rally, which fell short, on the part of the Apple Knockers. The score was 7 to 6 in favor of the Colonials.

Ferris Williams was on the mound for the winners and pitched steadily throughout the game. Manager Kaplan started the game for his team, but after four straight hits had been made off of his delivery retired at the end of the first in favor of Ben Fein. The Apple Knockers' pitching ace did not appear to be in his usual form and was hit hard throughout the game.

With the Colonials leading six to two at the beginning of the fifth Don Kelly drove out a long homer, with two men on bases, to put the Apple Knockers within one of tying the score. The Colonials scored again in the last of the fifth, insuring them the victory, as Watts Wheeler made a beautiful stop of a hard hit ball in the last inning to cut short a late rally on the part of the losers.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday night at the Fair Grounds.

THE GREAT DEAN WINDS UP

This was another of three Associated Press photos selected for the United States Camera series. It shows the mighty Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, from an unusual angle of his wind up, seemingly about to throw the ball over the Empire state building. Staff Photographer Thomas Sande caught this pose. This photo and others in the Camera series will be exhibited in U. S. and European cities.

STANDINGS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

When Charley Grimm, manager of the Cubs, traded big Jim Weaver to Pittsburgh last winter, he probably didn't realize that the oversize right hander would pitch Chicago into the National League pennant.

Weaver did that stunt yesterday when he blanked the challenging Cardinals with four hits, and his Pirate mates pounded out a 12 to 0 victory over the 1934 world champions.

That came as near as possible to tossing the pennant right into the Cubs' laps, for the only way St. Louis can win the flag outright is to trim Chicago five games straight in their final series, which starts tomorrow.

The Cardinal defeat, while the Cubs enjoyed the first of two days of idleness after their 18-game winning streak, put the Cards 3½ games behind Chicago.

If they beat the Pirates today, the Cardinals can gain a tie for the flag by beating the Cubs four out of five. If they lose to Pittsburgh, it will eliminate the possibility of a tie and require five straight or nothing.

While Weaver was subduing the Cards in brilliant fashion, the Buccaneers, led by Floyd "Pep" Young, rattled a quintet of Cardinal fingers for 16 hits.

Ed Heusser gave up three runs in the first inning when Young doubled with the bases loaded. He got around to Young again in the third, and Pep drove in the first two of five Pirate runs with a single.

Tony Kaufman, Jim Winford, Bill Walker and Phil Collins had their turns before the game was over, the Bucs getting their last four tallies off Walker in the seventh and eighth with Young driving in another pair.

The third place Giants lost their outside chance of tying Chicago but retained the possibility that they might beat out St. Louis for second place. The Terrymen split a twin bill with the Braves, winning the opener 3 to 2 as Carl Hubbell edged out Ed Brandt in a mound duel, but taking a 9 to 7 setback when Frank Gabler and Roy Parmelee proved ineffective.

Brooklyn held sixth place safe from the Phillies by pounding Jim Bin and Orville Jorgens for an eight run seventh inning to win the second half of a doubleheader 8 to 4. Johnny Moore's tenth-inning homer gave the Phils the opener 4 to 2.

The only American League game saw the Yankees extend their winning streak to five straight with a 5 to 1 victory over the Senators. While Lefty Gomez pitched seven-hit ball, the Yanks pounded Earl Whitehill for five straight blows, the first three doubles, and scored four runs in the fourth to sew up the game.

Honest Boy Hopes For Career Today

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Albert Correll, 22-year-old messenger whose $3 in tips brings his weekly income up to $6.15, hoped today that he could go back to the study of journalism with the reward that's been promised for his honesty.

Correll found $150,000 in negotiable bonds in the financial district yesterday and promptly returned them to the brokers.

There are also his father, his mother and brothers and sisters who have had tough going since when his father lost his job as a printer. The young man wants to take care of them.

"It's a pleasure to shake the hand of an honest man," Police Lieutenant John F. Fitzpatrick told him. A business man handed him a card and told him to "call me up."

But Correll had a promise of a reward from the firm that got its bonds back, and so his interest was in the reporters around him.

"I do that best of all—write," he said.

Dead Fish Again.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—

The Gulf of Mexico again has thrown hundreds of thousands of dead fish upon its shores. Beaches along a stretch of 50 miles were strewn with fish today in what appeared to be a recurrence of the submarine disturbance that killed similar millions of fish near Corpus Christi several weeks ago. At the time state game and fish department officials advanced the theory the fish had been killed by poisonous gas escaping through fissures in the ocean floor near the shore.
